Dr. H. H. Chang to Speak at N. Centre Woman's Club

"China, the United States, and the New Pacific," is the topic Dr. H. H. Chang has chosen for his lecture at the Newton Centre Woman's Club on Monday, March 10, 1947 at 8 P. M. A coffee hour will precede the lecture.

Dr. Chang, a distinguished Chinese diplomat and biographer of "Chiang Kai-Shek, Asia's Man of Destiny" earned the degree of Doctor of Philosophy at Harvard University for his brilliant thesis, "Matthew Arnold and the Humanistic View of Life."

Deeply concerned with the problems of lasting international peace, Dr. H. H. Chang believes that nations must depend on each other in order to fulfill their economic and political ideals.

Appointed as perhaps the youngest Minister Plenipotentiary to Europe, he successively served as China's representative in the capitals of Portugal, Czechoslovakia and Poland. He returned to China shortly before the outbreak of war in Europe. He later came to the United States from China's wartime capital, Chungking, and was working as Special Assistant to Dr. T. V. Soong up to the time that Dr. Soong returned to China as Acting Premier.

This will be the final lecture in the series given by the International Committee, Mrs. Kirtley F. Mather, Chairman.

Tickets may be obtained at the door.

Clothing Exchange Being Conducted by Church of Messiah

If your Johnny has grown completely out of his wardrobe this winter and you are desperate for larger clothes for him that won't strain your Easter budget, then you should know about the Clothing Exchange at the Church of the Messiah, corner of Auburn street and Commonwealth avenue, in Auburn.

Here you will find children's second-hand clothes, clean and in good condition, at prices which will stretch your clothing dollars. Every Thursday afternoon from one to four, members of the church's Tuesday Evening Club, under the direction of Mrs. Alan S. Eldredge, Mrs. C. H. Beecher and Mrs. Gregory J. Samoylenko, volunteer their time to keep this project serving the community.

Not only can you re-outfit Johnny economically for spring and summer, but maybe Johnny's just what some other mother (Continued on Page 4)

VOLUNTEER NEEDS

Request for Motor Corps

Are you at home at the wheel of a car? Do you have a few hours a week when you are free to go places and do things? Maybe you are just the one who would like to join the Red Cross Motor Corps for some interesting assignments with a definite human interest angle.

Motor Corps did not cease to function with the close of the war. They continue to serve the community and nearby hospitals quietly and efficiently. A single week may bring a request to take ten entertainers to the Bedford Veterans Hospital, a group of arts and skills workers to Cushing, a Nurse's Aide to Pondville, and the taking of patients to clinics in Boston.

There is a great need for more drivers. If you are over eighteen and in good health, think it over and call LAS. 6000, asking for Motor Corps status.

Politics With Color

by P. W. C.

(The opinions expressed in this column are the writer's own, and do not necessarily reflect the views or policy of this newspaper.—Editor's Note).

The Governor Loses

I urge all readers of this column to read and ponder the vitally-important letter in the mail-bag this week written by our State Senator, Richard H. Lee. The Senator was urged to make a statement on his side of the case, simply because your columnist felt that the defeat of our Governor in connection with House bill-1774 deserved considerable attention. Furthermore, the fact that Senator Lee, a man of unquestioned integrity, saw fit to go against the Governor, together with an old war-horse like Senator Philip G. Bowker, whose staunch Republicanism cannot be questioned over a long period of public service, in addition to eight other Senators, all added up to real news with something lurking in the background.

At this point let me make my own position clear. Although I realized at the start that this matter was extremely complicated, I thought that I understood it well enough to call both Senator Lee and Senator Bowker on the phone and ask them bluntly what made them both go hay-wire. Senator Lee made a little sense, tho' he failed to really satisfy me. The Brookline Senator left me infinitely more confused than I had been before. The main impression received from him was that the entire matter was largely a question of a fight between two different race-track groups—the dog and regular horse-track boys and the harness racing gentry. Well, to be utterly frank, my own opinion is that the Legislature might well devote less of its time to pulling chestnuts out of the fire for EITHER one of these groups and MORE of its time to solving some vitally-important problems, as, for example, what to do about some of these sex maniacs who are let out of prison after one sex crime and then allowed ample opportunity to commit another and still more horrible sex crime.

This morning my mail brought me a most illuminating letter from one of our better-known public servants on Beacon Hill. Because this man made some complimentary remarks about my comments on the El situation I refrain from quoting his letter. The chief point is that he made the flat statement that the Governor's defeat could be attributed to a certain Republican Senator, known to be eager and willing to serve the race-track interests, who had taken the trouble a month in advance to pledge some of the G.O.P. Senators to vote his way, which meant, of course, AGAINST Governor Bradford. My informant tells me that at least two of the ten Republicans who cast their votes (if they will pardon my using that phrase), wished to break away from their commitment and vote WITH the Governor. What a tough break for our Governor. It begins to look as tho' he will have plenty of trouble in getting his program through a so-called Republican Legislature.

The Mayoral Situation

Alderman Lockwood is working diligently at his Aldermanic job and apparently growing in stature as time goes on. It is obvious that his biggest threat will be a powerful dark-horse. Conversations with many of those who could make serious trouble for him at the coming City election appears to indicate that none of those who would ordinarily consider running for this office will do so this year. That, of course, does not necessarily mean that all these gentlemen will take off their coats and work hard for him. Some will work for him and some will remain passive, but fairly well satisfied at the prospects of having the Ward 7 Alderman serve as Mayor.

One more thought. During the past three decades, while your columnist has been following political affairs rather closely, there have been fewer, if any, public servants in Newton who have given more time, thought and intelligent service to the City than Alderman Lockwood. I say that without in any way committing myself to the support of his candidacy at this time. I am not unmindful of former Mayor Sinclair Weeks' contributions to the welfare of Newton or of the splendid work done for so many, many years by the former President of the Board of Aldermen, Charles B. Floyd. There are, of course, other men who have worked hard and effectively, including our present Mayor Paul M. Goddard, Roy V. Collins, Joseph B. Jamieson and quite a few more. Alderman Lockwood, however, has done a vast amount of entirely uncalculated research work, which is of the utmost importance. He is especially qualified for that type of work by his entire business training. If he is elected Mayor, there is one thing certain. Every single member of the City government is going to know that there is a full-time Mayor on the job who will hold him or her to account for good or not so good service. And that is as it should be.

The Republicans

Those who figure that it is all over but the shouting in 1948 had better sit down in their study and do some hard thinking. If they expect to win, they must learn to get along together. Nuf ced.

Former Asst. D. A. Boyd at Kiwanis Club

Asserting that communism is now challenging the democracies of the world, former District Attorney Hugh S. Boyd, addressing the noon meeting of the Newton Kiwanis Club, Wednesday, at the Newton Y. M. C. A. building, offered as his opinion that the rapidly expanding efforts of the communists will eventually result in a conflict between governments. The winning form of government will be the one that appeals to the majority, he added.

America must maintain a fluid form of society, he continued, one in which there is little class consciousness, individual freedom and the return to the form of government, that in the old days, resulted in the United States being known as "The Land of Opportunity."

Communism, he said, can never overcome a return of the Democracies to freedom of individual effort, rather than the prevailing tendency of government control, inasmuch as communism is patterned so's to stifle the individual in the all prevailing interests of the state.

Taxes, too, must never become a crippling burden on the individual, but a helpful, inspiring matter to the voters, who, Mr. Boyd declared, "vote by instinct in most cases. Agreeing with Robert Burns that a true democracy allows for 'Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness,'" the speaker then answered the questions of Kiwanians concerning government, crime, the manner in which criminals should be treated, etc.

Newton Lions Club

"Miracle & Wonder Drugs" was the subject of a talk given to the Newton Lions at their weekly meeting at Y.M.C.A. by Mr. Triv. Weidner, a representative of Sharp & Dohme Co., who explained the great advances made in Biological products of late years.

After Plasma—the liquid portion of the blood—we had the residue or cellular contents of the blood. What to do with it? By rapidly freezing them and drying under vacuum, a resulting red powder was shown which cures long standing sores. This was tried in a paste, spray and a powder, and the latter was the most effective.

It was urged during the war to treat gunshot wounds which had refused to heal, and rapidly promoted their healing. Veterans' Hospitals used it on old ulcers from the first war also effectively.

He reported the development of an "A.B." solution which neutralizes the B. H. Factor; so that the danger of transfusion in R. H. negative mothers is eliminated. Penicillin, Tythricin and now the new Lyocyte powder were fully explained.

Members Monahan and Norwood brought in two new visitors—Jas. H. Dunn of Capital street and Pierce Gaddis of Eliot avenue.

The new Glee Club performed "Dear Land of Home" by Jean Sibelius under direction of Jack Tapper, and the latter was presented with a new baton by the members.

A Message to Mr. and Mrs. Citizen

From
The Newton League of Women Voters

Modern Pioneers

We are pioneers in democracy. We are pioneers because democracy is an ever growing, ever changing method of living together. While the goal of social and political equality may remain constant, methods of achieving that end may change.

The exciting, even exhilarating shift in values in our physical world calls for changes in our social and political ideas. We have an amazing heritage of democracy in deed and literature, but often our guideposts are not applicable in our bewildering modern world. Then we are pioneers so that our government by the people, of the people and for the people shall not perish from the earth.

The League of Women Voters makes it possible, through democratic representative process, for women to be knowledgeable and articulate in government. Household work to be done or babies to be cared for, these need not prevent participation. An intelligent voting body is not only desirable but a necessity in a democracy, and women who heretofore wondered, "What can I do?" here have the answer. They can join with other women in non-partisan political action in the public interest and in support of selected issues.

The issues as listed in the platform of the League of Women voters are:

I. Government by the People

Requires:

A. The protection of the citizen in his constitutional rights, especially those of freedom of speech, religion, assembly, and press.

B. Removal of legal and administrative discriminations against women. Protection of minority groups against discrimination.

C. A system of free public education with equal opportunity for all and adequate protection for academic freedom.

D. Legal protection of all citizens in their right to vote.

II. Government of the People

Requires:

A. A system of government in which responsibility is clearly fixed.

B. A system of government which is responsive to the will of the people and which enables the voter to carry out his obligation as a citizen.

C. A system of government which constantly seeks to operate more efficiently.

III. Government of the People

Requires:

A. The assumption of responsibility by government for social problems which affect the general welfare.

B. Mutual responsibility of government, business, agriculture and labor for solving economic problems in the public interest.

C. Conservation and development of natural resources in the public interest.

IV. That such Government Shall Not Perish from the Earth

Requires:

A. Recognition of the interdependence of the world.

B. The cooperative method of solving international problems.

C. Adoption of domestic policies which will facilitate the solution of international problems.

Specific measures of Congress are supported or opposed on the basis of these principles. And that such government shall not perish from the earth requires that each of us be a pioneer—a sturdy, articulate democrat.

Aldermen Appropriate Funds for Addition to Tech. High School

The Newton Board of Aldermen appropriated at their meeting on Monday night an additional sum of $286,569.27 for the addition to the Technical High School, Newtonville, the cost of which will amount to $372,769. This figure is 10% higher than was estimated last Fall due to the rise in prices since that time. Of the amount appropriated $241,579 is to be taken from the remainder of the $300,000 bond issue and the balance of $45,000 from the sale of tax title property.

Other appropriations made by the Board were: $1,930 for a 350 foot extension of a water main on Hatfield Road, Ward 3; $750 for a 150 foot extension of a water main on Crehore Drive, Ward 4; $876 for pension of Timothy F. Crowley, an employee of the Street Department and $150 at the request of the Law Department to settle a claim of Corina McManus for injuries received in a fall on March 7, 1946.

The board confirmed the appointments of Raymond D. Hunting and Howard L. Rich as members of the Newton Recreation Commission, as recommended by Mayor Paul M. Goddard. The appointment of Dr. Richard C. Schofield as inspector of animals for one year and of Norman J. Mitchell as registrar of voters for three years were laid on the table in accordance with the rules of procedure.

The following were drawn for jury duty in the Middlesex Superior Court in Cambridge: Sumner L. Bishop, 60 Fisher avenue, Newton Highlands; Porter L. Swift, 55 Hobart Road, Newton Centre for the First Civil Session; John W. Young, 58 Myrtle street, West Newton and Herbert S. Woodward of 106 Auburn street, Auburndale for the second Civil Session; Nicholas Toole of 59 Tamworth Road, Waban and George D. Hill of 1663 Commonwealth avenue, West Newton for the first Criminal session.

Rotary Club

Lyman Hoover, Y.M.C.A. secretary who recently returned from China, spoke on "Is there Hope for China?" at the meeting of the Newton Rotary Club on Monday at the Brae Burn Country Club.

Mr. Hoover indicated that much of the pessimism about China's future is due to taking too short a view of present conditions. China is 5000 years old and a few years mean little to the Chinese. They are used to cycles of security and insecurity, prosperity and disaster. It must be remembered that China has many problems, peculiarly her own which complicate her situation. Her vast population which is indicated variously from 400 to 600 millions; limited communications; numerous dialects within the country; poverty; illiteracy. The awful destruction caused by the war; inflation prices are 7000 times higher than before the war; the struggle between the central government and the Communists. As China looks to the future she faces three basic needs: Wide-spread education of her vast population public leaders to serve the people, and co-operation among the people and particularly among various groups.

"In my own way"

Again and again you hear it said: "I want to live my life in my own way."

It's a universal desire. But it finds its most active and determined expression in America. It's one of the reasons why 73,000,000 people in this country own life insurance.

The policies which these 73,000,000 own are symbols of our American spirit of independence. They are one of the proofs that we want to live our lives in our own way... that we want those dependent upon us to live their lives in their own way... that we want them to be able to do so in spite of possible emergency or disaster.

These policies, too, are the symbols of something more.

They are the evidence of our intent and purpose to shoulder our own responsibilities. And this perhaps is more important than all else. It is the willingness to shoulder our own responsibilities which enables us to work together and to live together, to create great industries, to build fine communities, to become good neighbors and good citizens, and to live our lives in our own way.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor Newton Graphic:
Dear Sir:

As a veteran of World War I A.E.F. and father of a World War II veteran I believe this Newton Tribute Foundation to plant trees and flowers along Commonwealth Avenue seems a silly idea. Who would benefit by this? Only the mansions and beautiful homes on Commonwealth Avenue. Look up the records in the City Hall and find out how many came from Commonwealth Avenue in this last war and give the real veterans on the other side of the tracks a break and stop this spending of $40,000 on this foolish idea.

If we have $40,000 to spend, spend it on a real memorial near the lagoons in front of City Hall, or buy a lot for housing the veterans, not to have the rich on Commonwealth look out at what the service gave them. Let the veterans come first and last.

WM. J. HEALEY,
Newton

Editor Newton Graphic:
Dear Sir:

Since we have to pay taxes in this fair city why can't the city do a little something in return to enable us to enjoy living in Newton?

The Board of Health should buckle down and do a little exterminating of rodents and insects or we should do a little exterminating in the City Hall!

It's no fun not to be able to enjoy your own yard in summer because the mosquitoes and flies use you as a parking space or a luncheon; or to be afraid to empty your garbage or burn trash because of the rats and skunks. Today the rats in Newton outnumber the whole population and have nests under every other home.

Why can't the Board of Health combine with the exterminator in business here to train some of the willing unemployed in a business that could reach an all time high in Newton?

Let's get something done around here so we can get a little pleasure out of our homes. Brookline hasn't got a mosquito cause that city prevents even their breeding—Wellesley gives co-operation in getting rid of rats. So, why can't Newton?

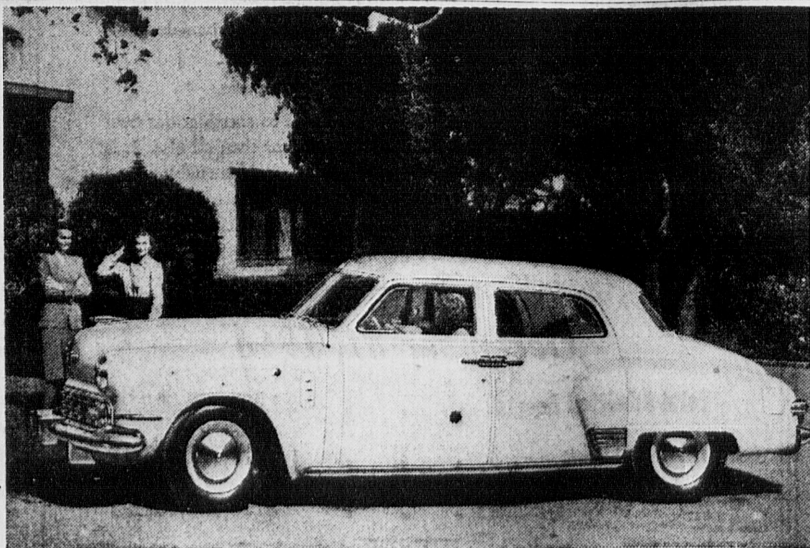

Let's get busy here, but quick, and petition to have a healthy city we can be proud of instead of a city with which we are thoroughly disgusted.

THE LAST STRAW!

Dear Sir:

The furor which has arisen following the action of the state senate in defeating H-1774 last week, seems to have beclouded the actual issues in a series of charges, personalities and recriminations. Along with some others, I have been accused of deserting Governor Bradford on a moral issue to become a tool of the racing interests. Those are harsh accusations. To find out whether there is any basis for them, let's look at the facts. The bill which was voted down on Thursday by a large margin applied a restriction to harness keeps on fighting—fighting for human happiness and welfare all over the world. Ask the victims of disaster about the Red Cross. You will find that when hurricanes, flood or epidemics strike at American families, the Red Cross is always there.

"Ask our wounded veterans. They know how the Red Cross makes their days less drab. Right now, the Red Cross is providing thousands with guidance in personal and family problems, furnishing representation for their claims, aiding readjustment to civilian life. Concern for our veterans' welfare never ends."

"Ask our G.I.s. The Red Cross is a link with home. It helps maintain the G.I.'s morale with recreational programs and many personal services. The need for this touch of home continues!"

"Ask the victims of accidents. Every year 100,000 are killed and 10,000,000 injured by accidents in the country. First Aid, Water Safety, and Accident Prevention programs help reduce this tragic toll. The war on accidents never ends!"

"With the Newton Chapter alert to local needs, the program of the Community Gray Ladies was recently inaugurated and will bring cheer into the lives of Newton people confined to their homes. Red Cross continues as an agency of imagination and vision ready to cooperate with other agencies."

"Your contribution will insure the carrying on of the whole appealing program!"

Glee Clubs—

The Amphion Club of Melrose was organized in 1892 and has recently given its 163rd concert. It has sung before Presidents William McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt, both of whom subsequently sent autographed letters expressing appreciation, which the Club prizes highly.

The Wollaston Glee Club is now in its 47th season and is one of the four original clubs in the New England Federation of Men's Glee Clubs, which was founded by Herbert J. Gurney, a past president of the Wollaston Club. In its concerts, it has been assisted by some of the greatest artists associated with grand opera and the concert stage and has freely given its services for charitable and civic purposes. It sponsors a scholarship to the New England Conservatory of Music, open to students of high school age in Quincy and surrounding towns.

The Highland Glee Club, of Newton, was formed in 1908 and has regularly given at least two public concerts every year since—the total now being eighty-six. In addition, it has given many concerts for charity and up to the beginning of the war a delightful feature of its activities has been the Carol singing in the early hours of every Christmas morning in various parts of Newton accompanied by a quartet of trumpeters. The Highland Glee Club has set up a scholarship which is annually awarded to a Newton High School boy or girl, the selection being made by a board of three trustees. The Club's officers are: President, George H. Wright, vice president, Stuart T. Dewey, secretary, Richard W. Loud, treasurer, Gustav R. Breitzke and director, D. Ralph Maclean.

Adding to the importance and excellence of the concert will be the assisting artist, Alice Farnsworth, whose beautiful soprano voice and charming personality have placed her high in the ranks of concert soloists.

The committee in charge of the concert reports that a capacity audience is assured.

Then there is delightful children's furniture; toys, too; and hanging lanterns, floor lamps, trays, golf clubs and bags, desks, phonographs, radios, lamp shades, folding screens, refrigerators, trunks, candlesticks, household appliances of every description, luggage to name only a small fraction of the vast collection.

The Auction—to which admission is free—begins at 2:30 p.m. and is expected to last well into the evening. Time will be taken out from 6 to 7:30, when a Saturday night cafeteria supper will be served. Throughout the proceedings refreshments will be available.

Dorothy Dexter, home economist for John P. Squire Company, presented ideas for attractive meals to members of St. Philip Neri's Women's Guild and their friends, Wednesday, March 5, at their regular monthly meeting.

interprets as the women's viewpoint to operating and planning her departments of the company. In addition, Miss Dexter concentrates her attention on the development of new and improved ways to serve the company's products.

THE D. R. EMERSON COMPANY

Familiar to many of you and your mothers was the D. R. Emerson Co. on Temple Place, in the days of real lace and beautiful passementerie.

Modernized as time went on it still was the choice of the discriminating customer.

Finally the time came when it closed its doors and was very much missed by its many loyal customers. Shortly afterwards two of its employees opened a Smallwares Shop on West St., carrying a complete line of Smallwares, Braids, Laces, and Buttons.

It was a joy to the former Emerson customers to find this place with the same line of merchandise that they were familiar with. This store has now moved to 59 Temple Place in the Blake Building on the third floor. Here you can shop in comfort in a well lighted, spacious shop and receive the old "Emerson" service and courtesy.

NEWTON COUNCIL OF CHURCHES

A series of sermons
by Newton Ministers

The Power To Carry On

A Sermon by Rev. Robert Clyde Yarbrough, Ph.D.

In that delightful book which many of you have read entitled "Mary Poppins," Miss Turvey Tartlett marries Mr. Turvey. In the post-war world in which we now live most of us belong to the Turvey family. Anxious about our work, concerned for our personal relationships, confronted with problems we don't know how to handle and with decisions we don't know how to make, we know realistically the thing which Turvey Turvey represents symbolically. Mired in personal difficulty, cornered by inexplicable circumstance, and faced with a suffocating sense of external strain, we know what Reinhold Niebuhr means when he insists that ours is a generation which desperately needs the spiritual resources with which to deal with the problem of frustration.

Many of us are like the old cisterns which I remember were to be found at all the rent houses on the ranch when I was a boy; that is to say, we are all right as far as we go but we can't count on ourselves; the resources of our supply are superficial; our reserves are limited; we cannot stand a prolonged drought. Miss Tartlett is not alone; many of us Turveys have married a Mr. Turvey.

To such a situation our Christian faith speaks directly. This deep need of our inner lives for an adequate spiritual water supply is met by one of the deep facts of Christianity. For central in our Christian faith is the declaration that we need not remain cisterns; we can become artesian wells "with resources that run deep so that we need not be at the mercy of transient circumstances." One of the basic affirmations of our faith is that if we trust God for the power to live triumphantly we will find ourselves in possession of the power. "In Him who strengthens me I am able for anything." (Moffat).

Professor Frederick C. Grant of Union Seminary in his recent book, "The Practice of Religion," tells of a man who was walking one night along the edge of a Welsh mountain. In the darkness he slipped and fell and continued to fall from ledge to ledge. Finally, somewhat bruised and badly shaken, he managed to catch hold of the limb of a stout tree that was growing on the face of the cliff. Aware of the peril he faced if the limb gave way or if his hands let go, the man clung on desperately for what seemed like more than himself. "They that wait upon the Lord do renew their strength."

On the coast of Maine one summer I watched with fascination what happened to the pale light of morning, he looked down and instead of seeing the yawning chasm which he had imagined all through the night was below him, he saw a ledge of solid rock some nine feet wide and less than six inches beneath him. His foot was almost touching it. If he had only been willing to relax, to let go, he could have spent the night in safety and comparative comfort instead of in terror and great pain. All during the black, terrible night he did not know, however, what lay beneath him.

And neither do we know what lies before us, but the power to face it triumphantly will come if we are willing to trust ourselves in commitment and surrender to the Eternal God in whose keeping is our destiny, and who always supplies a spiritual ledge of solid rock for those who rely upon Him. "The Eternal God is thy refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms."

Some of us make the mistake of thinking that the power to carry on in the face of whatever comes is to be had merely by blowing on our hands and putting our backs into it. As a matter of fact, however, unlike some other areas of our living, we never can get such power by violently going after it, but only by hospitably waiting for it. We do not lay hold upon the power so much as we are laid hold upon by the power.

Ezekiel, the towering prophet of the Babylonian exile, understood this great truth and framed it in unforgettable words when he said, "The Spirit entered into me and set me upon my feet." Even in the exile, he received the power to carry on without despair and dismay not so much by "trusting his volition after the power, as by opening his life to receive it." Here he was, as Harry Emerson Fosdick described him, "played out, done in, all gone, and lo! in an hour of spiritual receptivity he opened his life to a power greater than himself that set him upon his feet." He did not set himself on his feet. He was set on his feet. In the crisis which he faced—an exile amid the oppressive splendor of arrogant conquerors; his people uprooted, dejected, and wretched; his native city utterly destroyed; and his God scornfully scoffed at—in such a crisis he became aware of available resources from beyond himself to which he was willing to give himself and from which he received a power to be

The Power that holds the planets in their course, That places limits on the restless sea, Holds my life too within its mighty keeping— Always holds me.

I say this over and over when storms are heavy, I say it when the night is on the land; I whisper that behind the Power Almighty Is God's kind hand.

And so I rest as a swan rests on a river— Quiet and calm amid life's troubled flow: I know I am held by a Power and Love that never Will let me go.

The Second Church in Newton, West Newton

The Second Church in Newton, West Newton, had its beginning in 1760 when its first preaching services were held in a small schoolhouse, unpainted within and without, was built on Washington street, opposite Highland street, on land purchased from the inn keeper for about twelve dollars. Since then the Church has had two new meeting-houses, although frequent enlargements and improvements were made. On October 1, 1916, the present beautiful Gothic structure with its lofty spire, copied from that of Salisbury Cathedral, and the Parish House were dedicated. In 1939 the Educational Building was completed, which provides thorough and modern facilities for the training of some 500 children and young people.

From its very beginning Second Church has been a pioneer. It was the first Congregational Church ever to build a Gothic type of meeting-house, the first to have a Chancel and Altar, and the first to inaugurate a liturgical service of worship. New types of young people's societies and a new type of Church School came into being in Congregationalism at Second Church. It was one of the earliest, if not the earliest, Congregational Church to build Chapels for its children and its

Plane Fans Seek Place to Fly Models

At a hearing before the Recreation Department this week, the Newton Model Flyers sought permission to use one of the city's playgrounds to fly Power Model Planes, a hobby in which about 40 members are interested.

There are about 200 gas model planes in the city. Their owners have been forbidden or requested not to fly them at the High School Athletic field or the Newton Centre Playground. Mr. Hawthay Mabbett, spokesman for the group, said that a place should be set aside for flying the models, under the supervision of the Playground Department. The flyers, all members of the Academy of Model Aeronautics, a division of the National Airplane Academy, are insured against personal and property damage.

Mr. Mabbett pointed out that flying and building model planes taught youths fine craftsmanship, and kept them intensely interested. There are seven hobby shops and 22 hardware stores in the city which sell model airplane supplies, and one of the country's leading manufacturers of model plane kits is located in Newton Upper Falls.

The Commissioners took the request of the group under advisement and went on record as approving of the flying activity under proper conditions. F. Ewing Wilson, Recreation Commissioner, was authorized to advise the fliers of the Commissioner's decision as soon as possible.

The room was packed throughout the afternoon and more than two hundred buyers stayed for the supper. These, together with many newcomers, were on hand for the evening sale, which followed.

In excess of four hundred items—including many fine antiques—were up for bidding; and at the conclusion of the auction hardly more than ten pieces remained unsold.

The same enthusiasm was shown on Friday, the preceding day, when small items not designated for Saturday's auction, were displayed for sale on "Treasure Tables". This stock, comprising hundreds of pieces of PROPOSED Newton Highlands War Memorial designed by Newton Memorial Art Co.

N. Highlands to Honor World War II Dead With Eternal Light Memorial

To forever keep alive the memory of the twenty-one servicemen who gave their last full measure of devotion to God, country and home in World War II, the families, friends, neighbors and residents of Newton Highlands are subscribing the funds necessary for the erection of a symbolic memorial to these departed heroes, most of whom rest in foreign soil.

The City of Newton has authorized the placing of the memorial on the grounds of the Newton Highlands branch of the public library, fronting on Lincoln street. The memorial is already under process of construction, so that it will be completed and dedicated on the Sunday immediately preceding Memorial Day—May 25, 1947—at which time speakers of local and national prominence will participate in the ceremonies of dedication.

A brief description of the memorial, accompanying distribution of reproductions of the designer's plan, is being offered to interested residents. In concept, the memorial is in the form of

35 Years Old, But They Don't Look It!

It is a little hard to believe that the young ladies we see about the town in their attractive Girl Scout uniforms are about to celebrate anything as sober and "middle-aged" as a thirty-fifth birthday. The Girl Scouts are always so young, fresh and up-to-date that we somehow get the impression that Girl Scouting is brand new. We don't realize that the movement is thirty-five years old and that generations of girls have grown up under its influence.

A great deal has happened in this troubled and turbulent world since 1912, and one of the good things has been the quiet, steady growth of an organization devoted to helping girls become better citizens. Somehow, in spite of wars, depressions and uncertainties, the girls of the country have known what they wanted—and have achieved it. They wanted Girl Scouting—from the very first time when they heard of it—and today they have it in 8300 communities for more than a million members.

Perhaps the secret of the Girl Scout success story is that the organization's record is one of progress. From the earliest days of Girl Scouting, the organization has been in step with the times. The Girl Scouts have developed widespread international affiliations throughout the years. Today, when girls are as concerned with world friendship as their elders, the organization provides channels of communication and co-operation with Girl Guides and Girl Scouts of other lands. It may be that these youngsters are going straight to the heart of the problem of building a better world when they send their letters or boxes of gifts to sister Guides and Scouts overseas.

Another remarkable thing about the Girl Scouts is the fact that it is an organization where differences of creed, race, nationality or politics are subjects of reciprocal interest and respect instead of dispute.

By the devotion and selflessness of the volunteers, the Girl Scout organization stands today as an example for the world. Happy Birthday, Girl Scouts—and may you ever be as young, direct, energetic and hopeful as you are today!

The Red Cross

What are the basic purposes of the Red Cross? We all know the Red Cross, its name is familiar to each inhabitant of this country, but an examination of its charter aims is in order during the current fund campaign.

Among the humanitarian purposes of the American Red Cross are: to furnish volunteer aid to the sick and wounded of the armed forces in time of war; to act in matters of voluntary relief, and in accord with military and naval authorities as a medium of communication between the American people and their Army and Navy; to carry on a system of national and international relief in time of peace, and to mitigate the suffering caused by pestilence, famine, fire, floods, or other national calamities, and to devise and carry on measures for prevention of these disasters.

Since 1881 the Red Cross has served as the nation's disaster relief agency. Through its program of preparedness, emergency relief is immediately available to individuals or families suffering from the ravages of floods, tornadoes, and other catastrophes.

Your contribution is needed to continue the work of the Red Cross, and you will feel proud to know that you have helped this worthy organization to succor fellow Americans in peril from the elements.

11th Annual Report Social Security Bd.

The payments of benefits to insured wage earners during periods of permanent total disability through the expansion of the present Federal Government program of old-age and survivors insurance is one of the recommendations of the Social Security Board in its eleventh and last annual report. James T. Phelan, manager of the Cambridge office of the Social Security Administration, located at 1245 Massachusetts Avenue (Harvard Square) said today.

In July of 1946 the Board was abolished, its functions transferred to the Federal Security Agency, and its organization designated as the Social Security Administration. The current report, required of the Board under the Social Security Act, is for the fiscal year 1945-46.

In making its recommendation for the inclusion of disability insurance, the Board said that the wage loss suffered by permanently disabled working people and their families probably runs from $1,500,000,000 to 2,000,000,000 a year.

Another recommendation of the Board calls for the extension of coverage under old-age and survivors insurance to all gainfully employed individuals. Persons not at present able to earn protection under the program include those employed in agriculture, domestic service, non-profit organizations and Government service and those who are self-employed.

Mr. Phelan pointed out that this recommendation was based upon ten years of administrative experience, which had demonstrated the feasibility of extension of coverage to the groups now without the protection of the program.

In addition to protecting the groups not now covered, the extension of the program would reduce the number of persons who lose their rights to benefits by shifting in and out of covered employment, he added.

A third major recommendation calls for changes in the method by which old-age and survivors insurance benefits are figured to increase the amount of the benefits, particularly for low-paid employees. The general level of benefits should be raised, the report states, largely because of increased living costs.

Other recommendations of the Board call for legislation to prevent servicemen from losing the protection of the old-age and survivors insurance system because of service in the armed forces, also calls for increasing from $3,000 to $3,600 a year the wages that may be credited to the account of any wage earner, thus expanding the basis for determination of benefits, and an increase in the amount of earnings a beneficiary may receive in covered employment without having benefits suspended.

The Board also recommends reduction of the qualifying age for all women beneficiaries from 65 to 60 years.

Newton Tribute Foundation

There is an old saying, "Fools rush in where angels fear to tread." I guess that applies to your columnist this week. I realize fully that this is not going to sit well with many people whom I both like and respect. However, it seems to me that the cold, hard facts of the matter justify me in doing a little thinking out loud. So, here goes.

Under certain circumstances, the plans of the recently formed Newton Tribute Foundation might well command considerable more enthusiastic support than they do at the moment. It so happens, however, that we have in Newton a rather critical housing shortage, especially as it pertains to veterans of World War II. I am just wondering if it would not be far wiser and infinitely more beneficial to spend the $40,000.00 which the Foundation is attempting to raise for the construction of a little new housing or at least for the purchasing of a few small tracts of inexpensive land on which some worthwhile housing project might be started? Is not this something to which a great deal of careful thought should be given, and soon?

Why do I feel this way? That's a fair question. Suppose that the sum of $40,000.00 is raised and spent on the beautification of Commonwealth Ave. between Chestnut Hill and Norumbega Park. What profound benefit derives from that work? Will it comfort any substantial number of veterans in our city? What percentage of our veterans live on Commonwealth Ave. or even nearby? How about giving a lift, a boost in morale, to at least a few of those worthy veterans who are currently living in trailers or attics or basement apartments or, at best, doubling up with their in-laws? On the other hand, if our experts should tell us that $40,000.00 is too small a sum with which to do much to alleviate the serious housing shortage, would it not be smart to consider some other practical proposition for really helping those veterans who are in desperate need of help. Incidentally, I am not theorizing about this problem. It so happens I have met quite a few young couples who have been putting up a grand fight in the face of heavy odds ever since the husband's discharge from the service. I have seen housing difficulties, job-finding difficulties and serious health problems which temporarily dwarf the other two.

So, here is my suggestion for the Newton Tribute Foundation, whose officers and promoters are, in a number of instances, good friends of mine. Whether or not they will be, next week is another matter. Why not conduct an informal poll of the veterans themselves, taking, perhaps, a cross-section of them, in order to avoid heavy expense. Ask the veterans themselves what THEY would like the Foundation to do for them. That's a logical move, is it not?

In closing, may I emphasize the fact that this is written entirely of my own volition and without any request or veiled suggestion from any source. I am speaking for myself and do not even know what stand the Editor of the Graphic may see fit to take.

Sex Crimes
Just a few words regarding the uproar concerning sex crimes in this state. Tragic and horrible as this latest crime in Malden is, it may, nevertheless, result in something being done to reduce substantially the number of such crimes in the future. All the newspapers are on their toes and demanding not only action but prompt action. Our Governor is giving the situation a great deal of time and thought. So are our law-makers up on Beacon Hill. So, also, are our numerous penal experts and those functioning in similar capacities. Among them is one of Brookline's relatively new Selectmen, Reuben L. Lurie, who has filed a remedial bill in the Legislature. Watch the progress of this particular bill. There is definitely something wrong when hundreds upon hundreds of known sex offenders are known to be at large and are just as much potential killers as the young man from Malden. If money is needed for new hospitals for the mentally sick, for more doctors, nurses, etc., then, in the name of common sense let's appropriate those funds instead of spending the taxpayers' money for a new bridge across the Hoosegow River or a new road off Highway 28, by-passing the town of Squashville.

Finally, my readers may recall that I put in a strong plug for greater support for all hospitals and more especially mental hospitals in a recent column. My remarks were primarily directed to our splendid Women's Clubs, the local League of Women Voters and similar organizations. May I now suggest that these same organizations direct some of their attention to the sex crime problem and its alleviation?

Mosquito Control

A letter concerning the necessity for mosquito control in Newton has just been brought to my attention. Although I am not sure that I agree with the writer's statement that "A new Mayor could be elected on this issue," I think that the problem is more important than some of us may realize. The purpose of this brief paragraph is simply to give the matter publicity and to promise to go into greater detail in a later column.

Red Cross Workers Serving Overseas

ANN LOUISE CORCORAN

Miss Ann Louise Corcoran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Corcoran of 33 Bolton road, Newtonville, embarked on the U.S.A.F. Omar Bundy for Yokohama on February 11. Miss Corcoran's assignment to the Far Eastern theatre is her first overseas for the Red Cross although she had been a Red Cross volunteer for a number of years.

Miss Barbara Logan, also of Newton, is serving as a club recreation worker in Tokyo.

Production materials from the Newton workrooms continue to be received overseas. A letter of thanks has come through to the Newton Chapter which reads as follows:

"Illustrious Director: Exactly around the Christmas Holidays, we received the biggest gift we could have possibly received, for we needed it so. There arrived at our Mission, a truck bringing to us many beautiful clothes: coats, sweaters, suits. From where came so many beautiful things? We are young and very curious! Our good Director showed us, upon a large map in the school, a big country, called the United States of America, where there live many good people who love the Italian children, and send them food, clothes, and other things. We, then felt the spontaneous sentiment of wanting to write a little letter in order to give cordial and dutiful thanks.

Yes, dear Sir, we are grateful for your gifts; they arrived at a very opportune time, for it is cold, there is snow. But now we shall be warm. We are about 100 children gathered by the PP Redentoristi, in a Mission of Welfare where our families, belonging to the sections where the War damage hit worst, have placed us. The difficulties to surmount in these times are enormous, for that reason we have the greatest appreciation for what they are doing for us, helping us with all that is necessary to exist; helping us to realize our ideals of becoming Missionaries. Some day, when we are grown up, we too shall dedicate ourselves... we too shall offer ourselves with generosity to the welfare of society. But at present we are in need of being helped in everything, in order to survive. Please accept now, these cordial manifestations, together with best wishes for happiness to you and yours. As token of our gratitude we wish to assure you of our prayers to the Blessed Child Jesus, for He is all Omnipotent and Great and will grant our prayers. Again our thanks and deep appreciation. Little Missionaries Redentoristi of Scifelli.

Contribution Chairman. This campaign will continue through the month of March and any one interested in obtaining contributions or in making one is urged to call Mrs. MacNeill, Big 7547.

many as an opportunity to entertain friends at dinner before going on to the concert. Among those who have planned dinner parties are Mayor and Mrs. Paul M. Goddard, of Newton, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander McW. Wolfe, of Wellesley, Mr. and Mrs. Earl P. Stevenson, of Newton, Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Stevens, of Wellesley Hills, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Cutler, of West Newton.

The concert promises to be a brilliant affair, not only socially, but musically, as well. All three clubs — the Highlands Glee Club, the Amphion Club of Melrose, and the Wollaston Glee Club — have for a great many years given consistently excellent performances and are rated by leading critics as among the finest glee clubs in the country. Combined for this concert, they will be under the direction of D. Ralph Maclean.

Miss Alice Farnsworth, soprano, who will assist the clubs as soloist, has a glorious voice, beautiful in quality and of wide range, and has enjoyed a most successful career. She is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music, is the soloist at Tremont Temple and on March 23rd will appear in Symphony Hall with the Handel and Haydn Society, singing the soprano part of "St. Matthew Passion."

The program for next Tuesday's concert is particularly well balanced and of unusual interest throughout.

Ellsasser—

Mr. Ellsasser claims a growing reputation as a composer. Last summer a ballet suite, "Greenwich Village", was premiered in California under the direction of Leopold Stokowski. A major ballet company has tentatively scheduled to produce it for a fall New York premiere. The score was recently awarded the five hundred dollar prize of the Henry Levitt Foundation of New York for "the best American ballet of 1946". A violin concerto and other smaller works have also gained noteworthy attention. Heard on his Newtonville program will be the first performance of his Etude for Pedals Alone.

Mr. Ellsasser is the youngest person in history to have memorized the complete 219 organ works of J. S. Bach; these comprise only a fourth of his memorized repertoire. This Newtonville program is outstanding in its combination of classical and modern works. J. S. Bach, whose works Mr. Ellsasser has mastered, is represented by the First Concerto in G major, a Chorale Prelude from the St. Matthew Passion, and the Fourth Concerto which has only one movement. Also featured is the Seattle Suite of the late Banks Kennedy, which affords a musical impression of winter life in the Far West. Included is "Within a Chinese Garden", offering an Oriental touch to the program, and Pietro Yon's little humoresque on the primitive one-key-board organ is quite a throw-back in time. The program concludes in a unique note: an improvisation on a submitted theme never before seen by the artist. Few people in the world perform this phenomenal feat publicly.

Mr. Ellsasser will be appearing for his 435th major recital in this country. Additional engagements this year include Wanamaker recitals, a series of ABC television broadcasts, two Town Hall appearances in New York, a four month tour of the American continent, and a tentative European or Australian tour. He will also conduct the Bach Circle Festival of Boston late in April.

W. Newton Women's Educational Club

West Newton Women's Educational Club will hold their regular meeting at 2 p.m. on Friday, March 14 at the Parish House of the Second Church, West Newton. The business meeting, under the direction of Mrs. Frank L. Ogilvie, president, will be followed by the speaker of the afternoon, Adele Hoes Lee, whose subject will be "The Current Theatre." Guests will include the Blind Circle of Newton and the West Newton Women's Glee Club. Tea Hostess: Mrs. Stephen T. Fogwill.

Newton Newcomers Club

The Newton Newcomers Club held its regular Dessert-Bridge meeting at the Newton Center Women's Club on Friday, March 7th. A short business meeting was held, and two new members, Miss Dorothy Trefethen and Mrs. Harvey Reed, were welcomed by the President, Mrs. Stanley O. Robinson.

The meeting was followed by bridge, with high scores being made by Mrs. Jefferson Borden, 4th, Mrs. George Charnock, Mrs. Percy Lund and Mrs. B. H. Spicker.

The next meeting will be held March 21st.

Rotary Club

Paul Elicker, Jr., who because of his capacity for linguistics was selected from the Navy training forces at Yale to study Japanese at the University of Colorado and was then sent to the Pacific as an interpreter, was the speaker at the meeting of the Newton Rotary Club on Monday at the Brae Burn Country Club.

Elicker's first assignment was interviewing prisoners and he later was attached to General McArthur's staff at the time he entered Tokyo. He told of his impressions of the people and the countryside which he visited, also giving his opinions on many problems which the United States faces in Japan.

A graduate of the Newton High School, he is now continuing his studies at Harvard University School of Business Administration. He is the son of Paul Elicker, former president of Newton Rotary.

family units in six two-story apartment buildings. Of the more than 400 persons present at Monday night's meeting only 11 were in favor of the project and replies received from the postal card poll have resulted in 301 residents against the project and 60 in favor of it.

The promoters of the housing project, Earl C. Davis of Waban and Harold M. Hatfield of Jamaica Plain, both builders, outlined the proposed development, of which James T. Trefrey of Waban is to be exclusive rental agent. The anticipated investment is of $750,000 to $900,000 and its financing is to be insured by the Federal Housing Authority. It requires a change in the zoning law from single family to general residence and the site and unit plans have been approved by the Underwriters Section of the F.H.A., which will supervise the construction. Rental is to be $80 per month, plus $3 per room for heat.

Angus M. MacNeil, president of the Home Builders Association of Greater Boston, also spoke in favor of the development.

Warren F. Lincoln, first to voice opposition, asserted that he came to Waban 18 years ago because it was in a single family zone and that he does not believe that the village is the place for such a project. Dr. Henry Hudson stated that very few veterans can afford to pay the rentals to be asked. John Peterson also said that he didn't believe that the development would be of much use to veterans and expressed the hope that single family houses be built in the district.

Retiring president Ted H. Oakey announced that a public hearing will be held at the Newton City Hall on Thursday, March 27, on the petition of Earl C. Davis for the change of land from the Single Residence "B" District to General Residence District, bounded northerly by Moffat road, north-easterly by Montclair road, southerly by rear line of lots fronting on Beacon street, westerly by rear line of lots fronting on Windsor road.

The hearing will be conducted by the committee on claims and rules of the Board of Aldermen, sitting jointly with the Newton Planning Board.

Accomplishments of the Improvement Society during the past year were also listed by Mr. Oakley and the treasurer's report was presented by Harold S. Piper.

Edward Rowe Snow, known as "The Flying Santa Claus," gave an illustrated talk on "Tales of the New England Coast." A veteran of World War II, Snow was wounded during the African invasion.

Newell Club

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Donald Gibbs, 37 Claremont street, Newton, Monday, March 17, at 2 p.m. The speaker will be Mrs. George Naylor, whose subject will be, "Arts and Crafts at Cushing Hospital."

The Veterans' Administration reminded GIs that February 1, 1947, was the last day to reinstate lapsed term insurance policies without a physical examination. However, veterans with service-connected disabilities may reinstate their policies without physical examination.

Several school authorities from Sweden recently visited the United States to study higher education in this country. Sweden has organized a School Commission to meet with the intention of reorganizing the entire Swedish School System.

While in this country, Melker Johnsson, Ph.D., Stockholm Representative of the Swedish Ministry of Education, and member of the Swedish Association of Authors, visited Newton High School to obtain new ideas for the proposed reorganization. the "Eternal Light," which will burn forever by night and day, keeping bright the living memories of the men whose names will be recorded in everlasting stone and bronze. Its height will approximate ten feet above the grade level. It will consist of four pieces—the supporting base, the plinth (or die), the shaft and the lamp. The monument will be of Vermont granite, and the embellishments—name panel, sword and lamp—will be cast bronze. Concealed wiring of weatherproof nature through the centre of the monument will carry the current to the light bulb, fashioned to represent a flame.

The lamp is symbolically known as the "lamp of remembrance" and is classic Greek in design. It is this unique feature which gives the memorial the utmost in spiritual significance as a tribute to those whose lives were sacrificed in upholding the ideals of freedom and democracy.

The great sword, known as the "crusader's sword," symbolizes our great crusade for the survival of civilization; and in its inverted position denotes the cessation of war and hostilities. The front panel will bear the following legend:

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

101 Carver road
Newton Highlands
March 10, 1947.
Mr. Philip O. Ahlin, Editor
Newton Graphic,
Newton, Mass.
My Dear Mr. Ahlin:

I should like to second the plea of "The Last Straw" in the Graphic of March 6.

Newton is often called the Garden City but of what use are our gardens if we can never stay long enough in them to enjoy them? During the last three years, even if one went out in the morning, there have been such hordes of mosquitoes that one could do little work in comfort while if one were obliged to work in the evening, half of one's time was spent in warding off (or trying to) the hungry pests. Visions of malaria have haunted us as we tried to identify the anopheles variety or tossed wakefully between scratches.

Two years ago the Newton Highlands Garden Club tried to start a campaign for the mosquitoizing of Newton. After a speaker representing the state told us what had been done in neighboring communities, a letter was sent to the City Council asking for immediate relief. That year a limited amount was voted and used chiefly for surveying some of the breeding places, especially along the Charles. Little or no improvement was noted from such inadequate measures.

Could not the city use some of the money saved on sidewalk snow removal or street sanding to relieve the majority of our citizens from this pest and enable them to enjoy the gardens for which they have sought the Garden City?

Very truly yours,
MARY R. STARK.

Editor, Newton Graphic:

Dear Mr. Editor,

I think that a little support for the Newton Tribute Foundation from the veterans of World War II is long overdue. In the last few weeks I have read numerous letters bitterly criticizing this project for its impracticality and its failure to contribute to the memory of those who died in this war by constructively aiding those of us who are now struggling to make ends meet.

I don't blame those who are disgusted with the failure of the city government of this city to take the necessary action to alleviate the housing shortage by requesting federal housing units, giving veterans priority in buying city-owned land and in numerous other ways that have been proposed. Apparently they are still more interested in keeping the real estate interests satisfied than in helping the veterans of their own city obtain a place to live, but I think that the blame has been put in the wrong place.

To some this looks like a sop tossed to us by the city to keep us quiet and make us forget that they haven't done a thing for us as far as housing is concerned but I don't think this is the case. I believe that these people are doing this on their own because to them this was a good idea and not because it would serve as a good smoke-screen for the powers-that-be at city hall. Surely these people aren't trying to do anything but honor the veterans in the best way they know how. Most of them are prominent citizens who could get the publicity, if that is what they were seeking, in other ways that entail a lot less work.

Even if we disagree with their plan, and there are a lot of us who think that a project that would have a more vital connection with the life of the community such as a field house for some of the kids who have only the street to play in or a community building in which to hold meetings, dances and other social activities might be preferable but this plan doesn't rule out such projects in the future. This isn't a statue or some other inert mass of rock, mass-produced and ordered at wholesale price, the same monument exactly that thousands of other towns are putting up as public eyesores. It is something that will look better and better as the years go by, a living tribute to our buddies that have gone and a constant reminder of them to those of us who survived. So let's not sound off with a lot of griping about some darn generous people who are trying to show their thanks in the way they thought most fitting and give them a little thanks for their efforts.

Sincerely,
A Newton Veteran of World II

Editor Newton Graphic:

Dear Sir,

Our fair city is noted for its beautiful trees. What about the mosquito? It is as noted too. What about the health of our citizens who can not enjoy God's great out doors in the good old summer time. Children are bitten so mothers are forced to keep them in. The infection caused by a mosquito can be controlled by spending the $40,000 on mosquito control instead of trees on Commonwealth ave. Newton wake up. Health and comfort first, scenery second.

NEWTON CITIZEN.

Editor Newton Graphic,

Dear Sir:

It is believed that the letter you published last week, complaining of the pest or mosquito etc. in Newton, could be substantiated by the signatures of a large majority of Newton's taxpayers and residents.

Indignant groups are considering neighborhood meetings to protest the Board of Health's neglect of this important matter. For over 20 years Brookline has had preventative protection at very little cost. For less than fifty cents per year per inhabitant it has been estimated this situation can be permanently controlled in Newton.

For as little as $10,000 an immediate start could be made this month which would enhance property values and health and comfort sufficient to justify increased assessments. Would any property owner object to his proportionate share? Assuredly not. In Newton we have a resident taxpayer who is a professional exterminator, recognized and employed during the war by the U. S. Government. This proven specialist would take particular pride in making his "Garden City" home city a model for the country at low cost.

A new Mayor could be lectured on this issue. Why should not the Newton Alderman make an immediate arrangement with this man? Even $5000, if appropriated immediately, could be made to accomplish WONDERS this spring and summer of 1947.

In this letter I know I am expressing the wishes of numerous Newton taxpayers.

'Radio Wave' First In Newton at Letty's Beauty Salon

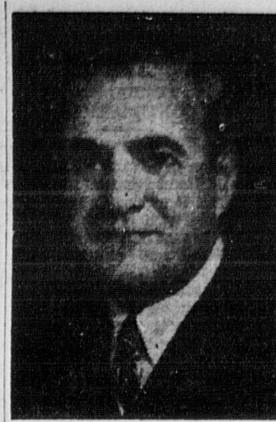

You may now have the very latest in permanents the "Radio Wave" at Letty's Beauty Salon, 815 Washington street, Newtonville.

The Radio Wave is a new type of permanent that for the first time insures you of the perfect permanent and does away with the fear of dry, frizzy hair. It insures you of having the soft glowing curls which Mother Nature intended us to have.

This marvelous new creation is done with a machine with an X-ray brain and the magic eye does away with all the guess work, which is a most important achievement as there are no two heads of hair alike. Some hair can be waved in three or four minutes while other hair takes half an hour or longer. This new machine watches your curls and will process them to the split second, eliminating all guess work. The Radio Waves "X-ray brain" does what no human being can do. It actually sees inside your hair and can tell the exact type of hair you have, the exact amount of processing your individual type of hair needs, and also tells the very second your straight hair changes into beautiful natural, wavy hair.

This wave is labeled a "precision" permanent because it promises a lot of time saved as well as safety to the hair. It is a combination of a secret formula solution as well as the electronic eye. In the process a special cap is placed over your prepared head of hair and an electronic cord is clamped into one curl only beneath the cap. The current is then turned on and the little radio gremlins get to work to stop only when the red light announces that your curls are perfect.

Letty's Beauty Salon is the first in Newton to introduce the "Radio Wave" and she invites you to call at the Salon or telephone Lasell 4400 for an appointment.

Protestant Churches Cooperate for Overseas Relief

Between now and Easter Newton's Protestant churches will join in the national Lenten appeal for funds to carry on the vital cooperative overseas relief and reconstruction work of the American churches. It was announced today by Rev. W. Henry Shillington, Executive Secretary of the Newton Council of Churches.

Many of the major denominations and interdenominational groups in the U. S. are cooperating in the appeal, which will be spearheaded by Church World Service, the Protestant agency for this coordinated overseas work, according to Mr. Shillington.

He said that the people of this city are being asked to give up their luxuries during Lent, and to contribute the difference in their budgets to the needs of our needy neighbors overseas.

"Giving up our luxuries, even for a few weeks, will mean giving life to others," Mr. Shillington asserted. "Lent is the traditional Christian period for self-denial. This year it is more necessary than ever, if Christianity is to demonstrate its vitality and leadership in the present-day world."

Americans, he pointed out, spend more than $25,000,000,000 every year for luxuries. "If a tenth of this amount were given to succor the needs of distressed peoples and communities in Europe and Asia, their recovery from the destruction of war would be much farther advanced today."

Contributions for the appeal will be taken at services in the churches of this community during the Lenten period, Mr. Shillington said.

Special union services are being planned for various villages in Newton. Contributions will be sent through the denominational channels, earmarked for overseas, or in the case of interdenominational gifts direct to Church World Service, 37 East 36th street, New York City.

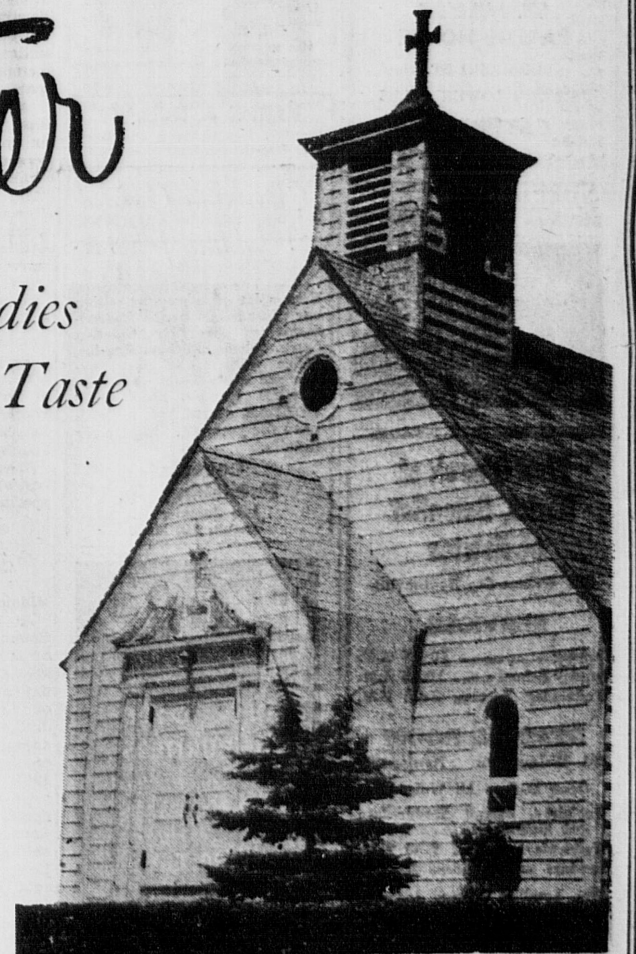

The Church World Service regional center for this area, at 236 Beacon street, Boston, Mass., also has an active part in the Lenten appeal. Mr. Shillington reported. It is supplementing the Lenten program of the churches by stressing the continuing need for gifts of clothing, bedding, and shoes.

He emphasized that the overseas ministry represented by the activities of Church World Service is concerned with both the physical welfare of the people and the reviving of church and community life in countries affected by the recent war and its contingent events. Twenty-eight countries received aid last year through Church World Service.

Puncture-Sealing Inner Tubes Back After Five Years

Return of its puncture-sealing inner tubes to the Newtons automobile market—the first since tire sales to civilians were halted on December 11, 1941—was announced today by Phil Bram, owner of Bram Battery & Tire service.

The new "seal-o-matic" tubes retain air when punctured by glass, nails and wire, hazards which are the most frequent cause of flat tires.

The puncture-sealing tube is made of two completely different types of rubber and is nearly double the thickness of the usual tube, giving it a life more than twice that of a tire, Phil Bram said.

Phil Bram said the tube itself is made of a special heavy rubber compound which withstands pinching and chafing and retains the correct air pressure longer. Inside is a layer of a softer, gummy rubber compound which tightly grips any piercing object and also seals the hole when such objects are removed.

35TH ANNIVERSARY GIRL SCOUTS

March 12 was a big day in the lives of Newton's Girl Scouts, who joined with more than a million members of their organization throughout the nation in the celebration of the thirty-fifth birthday of Girl Scouting. "Better Citizens Build a Better World" is the Anniversary slogan of the Girl Scouts and provides the theme for many of the special events, both national and local, that are being held in honor of the Girl Scout Birthday.

According to Mrs. Henry Whitmore, Jr., the Girl Scouts of Newton are observing the Anniversary by special Village, Troop and Community activities. There is a Girl Scout International Friendship Display at Baron's Store in West Newton. A group of Newton Scouts under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Richardson, executive director, took part in a dramatic presentation at the Community Anniversary Dinner held at the Copley Plaza on Wednesday. A number of troops are holding special Anniversary Troop meetings with parents and guests, and contributions to the Juliette Low Memorial Friendship Fund are being collected throughout the troops.

Mrs. Whitmore stated that the first Girl Scout troop was organized in Savannah, Georgia, on March 12, 1912, by the late Juliette Gordon Low, who had become deeply interested in it through her friendship with Lord Robert Baden-Powell, originator of the Scouting movement for both boys and girls. The idea of Girl Scouting caught on so quickly, Mrs. Whitmore said, that before the end of 1912 troops were springing up in various parts of the country. Today, thirty-five years later, Girl Scouting is carried on in 8,300 communities with a total membership of 1,218,000.

Girl Scouting was introduced in Newton thirty years ago, and according to latest statistics, now has a membership of 2100. Mrs. Whitmore pointed out that the work of the organization is carried on almost entirely by volunteers.

"The women (and men, too), who have helped the Girl Scouts reach present status as the largest organization for girls in the world are slated for special honors during the Anniversary year," Mrs. Whitmore said. "We are deeply grateful to them for their interest and pay tribute to them at this time."

Mrs. Whitmore continued by voicing the hope of the organization that the Anniversary celebration will attract the attention of many more adults and bring them to a greater realization of what youth service through Girl Scouting is all about.

"Even though the Girl Scout movement is a 'success' story at the end of thirty-five years, we cannot feel that we can rest on our laurels while there are still so many girls asking to join but

Holy Name Society Told Russia Seeks World Domination

Painting a dark picture of world conditions today, Rev. John Schultz, C.S.S.R., told 500 members of Our Lady's Holy Name Society of Newton at their Communion Breakfast on Sunday, March 9, that we have lost the Peace already by the policy of hatred set up by our high command in Germany after the occupation. A violent hatred toward us is the result.

"We were not smart enough," he said, "to have realized that such a policy was playing right into the hands of Russia. We have tried the Nazi generals and members of the high commands, but where have we read that the Russians have tried the German generals they had captured. No, they have been welcomed to Russia with hundreds of atomic scientists, chemists and engineers and industrialists at good pay and are a part of the estimated six million Germans who are slaves to the Communist three five year plans."

Father Schultz, made the prediction that within a year Russia will withdraw all its troops from Germany but only after they have established firmly a who are left on waiting lists because there aren't enough volunteer leaders to go around. We are hoping that at least seventy-five adults will enroll in Girl Scouting as a birthday present to the organization. Our goal for Girl Scouting in Newton in the Anniversary year is 'enough leaders and troops to take in all the girls who want to join'."

strong native communist leadership.

To the question asked most often—Does Russia want war in our day? He said, he felt sure that Russia did not want war because she was not prepared for war. In her announced three five year plans she will industrialize to the point of supplying all Europe needs and in the meantime her agents have generated hatred toward us in South America and China, and in her fourth five year plan she will have captured the markets of the world and will then be ready to complete the conquer.

Rev. Schultz is a member of the Redeptionist Order assigned to Washington, D. C., a native of Newton and a former member of Our Lady's Parish. He has been conducting a Novena of Grace to St. Francis Xavier at Our Lady's.

Francis J. Murphy, President of Our Lady's Holy Name Society opened the meeting and introduced Rev. Francis X. Bransfield, Spiritual Director of the society. Father Bransfield said he was very happy to announce that one of our own boys, Gerard Paul Welch, had just received a permanent decoration, the Navy Silver Star, for his services while on the U.S. Franklin, which was disabled in battle in the Pacific in the late war. Mr. Welch and his father, Daniel Welch, an active parish worker and Boy Scout leader for the past 10 years were escorted to the head table amidst great applause.

Father Bransfield then introduced Charles Gallagher, head coach of Our Lady's basketball team who introduced Walter Sullivan, assistant coach and John Lord, captain of the team.

In behalf of Rev. John Quinlan, parish director of C.Y.O., Mr. Gallagher presented C.Y.O.

finger sings to all members of the team, who were the following: Captain Joseph Lord, Robert Finnell, Manager, John Dwyer, Alan Small, Paul Kelly, William Greeley, Robert Bertrand, Hubert Small, Joseph Bradley, John Kelly, William Nally and William Murphy.

Father Bransfield, publicly thanked Chief of Police, Nicholas Vucedio and Captain William Mahoney for their splendid cooperation with the priests of the parish on accident calls.

Father Bransfield then introduced Rev. Michael E. Doherty, Pastor, who complimented the men for their fine showing and urged them to become a strong Catholic organization in the spiritual battle of the world between the Spirit of Jesus Christ and Communism.

Father Bransfield announced that on Holy Thursday our beloved Archbishop, Richard J. Cushing has asked the Holy Name Society in each parish of the diocese to hold an all night watch before the Blessed Sacrament. After Father Schultz spoke, hours of watch were assigned to the various district chairmen of the parish from nine p.m. on Thursday until eight o'clock in the morning of Good Friday.

FIRE PREVENTION SERVICE

As an aftermath of the shortages of materials to make heating units it may be expected that there will be an increase in the use of stokers for anthracite and for bituminous coal. There is also the possibility of the use of stokers with coke.

Stokers are of two general types, those that are manually controlled, as in connection with large boilers, and those which are automatically controlled. The manually controlled ones, which sometimes have partial automatic control of the speed of feeding, are found in factories, and for heating plants of large buildings. Except for the fact that they permit long periods in which no one is present in the boiler room, there is little difference in hazards, as applying to the boiler, for these manually controlled stokers than would be the case for hand-fired boilers.

An automatic stoker equipped with proper safety controls cannot be said to increase the fire hazard, and in fact for anthracite it generally reduces the hazard because of the lessened danger of hot coals in the ashes and the fact that the fire does not have to be broken up to remove clinkers.

The principal danger from the use of automatic stokers is that persons will believe they are too automatic in operation, and will fail to attend to such items as water level in the boiler and conditions of the stove pipe. These are both factors involving a life hazard.

Automatic stokers on house heating boilers and furnaces are usually controlled from a room thermostat, and in addition have devices arranged to operate the stoker periodically to prevent the fire going out. In addition to the ordinary safety valves, safety control should include the following: For steam boilers, an automatic device to shut down the stoker in the event of excess steam pressure and an automatic device to shut down the stoker in the event of low water in the boiler; for hot water boilers, an automatic device to shut down the stoker in the event of excessive air temperature, and also an over-run control of the air circulating fan to keep the fan running when air temperatures are above a safe limit even though the room thermostat has been satisfied and the stoker operation shut off. For any automatic device, the electric motor should be provided with an inherent over-heating protective device. Even with all necessary safety devices boilers and furnaces need to be checked occasionally to see that everything is in safe working order.

Council of Churches
Sponsors Institute
On United Nations

An Institute on the United Nations will be held in Newton Thursday, April 17, with morning, afternoon and evening sessions. The Institute will be sponsored by the Newton Council of Churches and the Massachusetts Council of Churches jointly. The purpose of the Institute will be to help people understand what the United Nations is and what it hopes to do. Such Institutes are to be set up in strategic places across the country. The one to be held in Newton will be one of the very first.

There will be a number of outstanding authorities in International Relations who will lead discussion groups during the day. In the evening the speaker will be Dr. Pennington Haile who will speak on "You—Your Church and the United Nations." Dr. Haile graduated from Dartmouth College in 1924 and returned there after securing his Master of Arts degree from Harvard in 1925. He taught at Dartmouth until 1931, at which time he returned to Harvard and secured his doctorate in 1935. At that time the rapid deterioration of the whole structure of international society spurred his interest in world affairs and led him into his present work.

The summers of 1935 and 1936 he spent largely in Geneva, Switzerland, where he obtained a clear and comprehensive picture of the workings of the League of Nations. This close contact with the League enabled him to see the reasons for its success in non-political fields, and also the reasons for its signal failures in meeting major political crises.

In the autumn of 1935 he became Assistant Director of the League of Nations Association and has worked in that capacity ever since. His work takes him before many audiences in New York and other parts of the country. Dr. Haile has worked also as Assistant Director of the Commission to Study the Organization of Peace, being especially interested in its work of popular education.

During 1942 for six months he travelled widely under the auspices of the War Department as a lecturer in the Orientation Course at army posts throughout the country. From this experience he gained the firm conviction that men in our armed forces are fully aware of their vital interest in making our victory in time total and lasting.

As a frequent speaker on the radio, he uses this medium to reach the widest possible audience and to take advantage of an exceptional speaking voice. His success in this exacting field is a guarantee of the depth and thoroughness of his information and his competence on the lecture platform.

DIPHTHERIA

Although diphtheria, in the past ten years, has ceased to be a major public health problem in the city of Newton, we must constantly be on guard against it. Dr. Ernest M. Morris, Newton's Health Officer and Executive Committee Member of the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association, pointed out today in a report issued through the Health Education Service of the Association.

"Immunization against diphtheria, including the booster dose, must be continued if Newton is to maintain its present control of this serious and unnecessary disease," Dr. Morris stated.

In other parts of Massachusetts diphtheria is on the increase. Throughout the state the sharp rise in the number of diphtheria cases has been called alarming by public health authorities. A total of 443 cases were reported in 1946 to the Massachusetts State Department of Public Health. This is more than double the number reported in any year since 1937.

Any child who has not been inoculated against diphtheria may be in danger of contracting the disease. To avoid unnecessary sickness and death, it is wise to have children inoculated some time between the ages of six months and one year. About four years after the first immunization, and especially just before entering school, a booster dose should be given to build up the immunity again. All children who have never been immunized against diphtheria should receive this protection immediately.

Partly as a health education method, to encourage all parents to have their children protected, the Newton Health Department conducts an immunization clinic every month from September to June, on the next to the last Thursday in the month at City Hall. Appointments are made through the Health Department. Children who come to the clinics are immunized against diphtheria and vaccinated against smallpox. But the bulk of Newton's immunizations are done by private physicians.

This year, with niphtheria increasing in some cities around Newton, parents should take special care to see that their children are protected.

Modern Idols

A Sermon by the Reverend J. DeWolf Perry, Jr.

"How long halt ye between two opinions? If the Lord be God follow Him: if Baal, then follow him. And the people answered not a word."—1 Kings 18:21.

Here is a vivid scene of people confused, slowed down to a stop because of their confusion. When the prophet Elijah asked this question on Mount Carmel he was concerned with the fact that people had forsaken God to worship Baal, an idol which symbolized their own possessiveness and a form of nature worship. It was not the first time this choice had been put nor was it the last, but it was certainly among the most direct.

This incident was more than a local challenge because it has been repeated all through history. People lapse from the worship of God, putting substitutes or idols in His place and then have had to be called back again. The cycle continues through the Old Testament into the New Testament and all through Christian history. It confronts us today when we are asked what is at the center of our life; what convictions grip us, what guides us, around what is our life built? To that question many people still answer not a word. The Lord cries out for faith, a faith that will make sense and endure. What prevents many people from choosing the Lord God and following Him is the clutter of idols that they have put in His place.

The people in Moses' day symbolized their idolatry in the worship of the Golden Calf, made from their golden jewels. We read that story and decide it does not apply to us for we have no Golden Calf. Another idol that we can see in remote places is the pillar carved into totemic symbols, expressing an idolatry of certain Alaskan Indian tribes. Again we try to justify ourselves by saying that because we do not have these we are not guilty of idolatry. We look at the Oriental Buddha and say "How mistaken people are to worship him" and again we absolve ourselves from idolatry. We sincerely think that idolatry is something long ago and far away that does not involve us.

When we are reminded that we are to worship God, we suddenly begin to realize that we live in a world that does not worship God, does not want to and, generally speaking, does not know how to if it wanted to because the modern world has put other things in the place of God. The glory of God has been turned into corruptible things. The idols of today are very modern, all man-made as usual, and could even be marked "Made in U. S. A." They are perishable, too. Sometimes we almost expect to find "Beware of Imitations" ironically stamped on them. Modern idolatry applies to human behavior, revolving around our own selves, our selfish desires, selfish happiness, selfish betterment. These are gods that we make with our own hands, "the devices and desires of our own hearts." Some of them are obvious; money, possessions, vanity, social influence, artificial notions of success such as the biggest bank account or the most expensive house. Sometimes it is power, political, economic or social; or it is even a form of ancestor worship with class, race, party or clique that we think of above everything else. There are those who would sell out to satisfy the cravings of appetite, lust or thirst. These are some of our private household gods, enshrined at the center of our lives, dominating us and to achieve which we would sacrifice anything. This means worshipping them because worship involves sacrifice, but this is false worship. These idols strangle us instead of giving us life.

There are other idols striking at the heart of the life of the world today. Among the causes of the recent war was the idolatry of nationalism, supported by theories of supremacy of race and blood. This same type of displaced or rather those with form of adherence to any particular economic or social system given the attributes of divine right. Idolatry applies, therefore, not only to self-worship but to the collective ego as well.

A still more distorted idol can be the way we think of God Himself. There are those who prefer not to think of Him at all, others have only the haziest notions of Him, a sort of oblong blur on their horizon, still others truly seek Him yet only succeed in creating a pathetic imitation of God out of their own minds. He is thought of sometimes as a sentimental and indulgent grandfather or a glorified Santa Claus. He is thought of at other times as a sort of super dictator and is expected to stop suffering, disease, wars, floods, earthquakes and the like by fiat. We even expect to find the vengeful hand of God in thunder and lightning, hurling bolts at those with whom He is displeased or rather those with whom we ourselves are displeased.

The Second Commandment is not limited to gods of wood or stone, but refers also to our wooden and petrified thought of God. The idolatries of today are not found in statues but in static opinions about God. If the Lord be God His loving purpose will be seen through the destiny of mankind. His guiding hand is discerned throughout this created world of which He is the Author. He is found so loving the world that He gives His only begotten Son that all that believe in Him shall not perish but have everlasting life. He is known as a loving father, revealed in the face of Jesus Christ, and found wherever His Holy Spirit is at work among men. He is found in sacrifice, in service and in love. He is found when we turn to Him in prayer. He is found when His people gather in fellowship to worship Him. And finding Him we make the amazing discovery that rather we are found by Him. The test of a civilization is in its view of God. How long do we have to halt between two opinions. If the Lord be God let us rise up and follow Him.

History of St. John's Church, Newtonville

In 1897 a group of Episcopalians in Newtonville organized "St. John's Episcopal Church Association," at first made up of about twenty people. It was the "horse and buggy days," so they found it a little too far to drive to Grace Church, Newton, or the Messiah, Auburndale. For two years services were held in Temple Hall, Masonic Building, Newtonville, conducted by the Reverend George W. Shinn, the Reverend Edward T. Sullivan and the Reverend Abel Millard under the direction of Bishop Lawrence.

In 1899 the Rev. Richard T. Loring, then a student at the Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge, began twenty-six years of devotion and sacrifice as Rector. In 1900 the present incorporated parish was organized, the constitution and by-laws adopted and the first vestry elected, of which Mr. Francis T. Benner was Senior Warden and Mr. Charles F. Avery, Junior Warden. Land was purchased and designs for the present church drafted by Mr. Henry Vaughn, famous Boston architect. Bishop Lawrence laid the corner stone of St. John's Church on June 25, 1902, the first service being held in the new church the following year on March 22nd. The parish house was built in 1921 completing the buildings as they now stand. Mr. Loring, after a quarter century of faithful and devoted service to the parish and community, died in 1926. He was succeeded by the Reverend Raymond Lang, former Curate at Grace Church, Newton, who continued as Rector until called in to the U. S. Army as Chaplain in 1941.

A Message to Mr. and Mrs. Citizen From The Newton League of Women Voters

YOUR POLITICAL POTENTIAL

What is your political potential? You have power or the possibility of power. If you are not using it, someone else is. If you are allowing someone else to use your vote, you are not using your political responsibilities, you are allowing someone else to use your vote. What are you doing? Granted you have no Position of Power! You are just one vote, but you are One Vote. In a democracy you cannot be invisible. If you do nothing, you are by your apathy agreeing. If you do something, you are at least shouldering your share. Even one considered opinion is valuable.

You need not be an expert on Greece, the atom bomb or taxation. You need not necessarily understand certification of teachers or the requirements of the Fair Employment Practices Act. You may not know what the five permissive forms of city government are in the Commonwealth. While it would be more desirable to be learned on all these topics, it is not necessary to be so to be a citizen in these United States. The founders of our Democracy did not possess Ph.D. degrees; The Signers of the Declaration of Independence were no Phi Beta Kappa keys. But they had a belief—a burning conviction of democracy.

One's hope for a democratic world can be used as the measuring stick for almost any legislative action. Once one has recaptured the belief that one man does count, it is possible to look about, to evaluate what one sees in local, state, or national government on the basis of one's democratic values.

The best way of starting to take one's political responsibilities seriously is to understand local government. We all want the same things—a steady job (preferably with a good income!) a decent home, good schools for our children, safe streets, something substantial in return for that tax dollar. The Newton League of Women Voters exists to promote political responsibility through informed and active participation of citizens in government.

At the present time there is a possibility of painlessly learning a good deal about our schools and our local government. On the 24th of March from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Newton Centre Woman's Club there is to be a Conference on Current Issues. This is a service which the Massachusetts League of Women Voters, the Newton League of Women Voters, the Federation of Women's Clubs and the Newton Centre Woman's Club have provided for any interested person each year for the past decade. ### Hayes - Secord

With white gladioli, snapdragon and sweet peas forming the decorations for the candlelight ceremony in the Immanuel Church, Newton, Miss Ruth Elizabeth Secord, daughter of Mrs. Beverly Gordon Secord of 31 Wesley street, Newton, was married to Joseph Daniel Hayes, Jr., of 64 Prospect avenue, Newtonville, on Friday, March 7. The four o'clock ceremony was performed by Rev. Clarence Arthur Wood. The bride wore a gown of broad white satin in princess style with a train, and her veil was caught to a headpiece of roses. Mrs. Raymond Garon, sister of the bride and matron of honor, wore a gown of blue faille and velvet with a headpiece of red roses and carried red roses. Norman G. Garon was the ring bearer.

Robert Hayes, brother of the groom was the best man. The ushers were Charles Allen, Gordon Grant, John Collins and Gerald Mahoney.

A reception was held in the church parlors following the ceremony from four to six o'clock.

Following a wedding trip to Bermuda, Mr. and Mrs. Hayes will reside at 31 Wesley street, Newton after April 1st. The bride was graduated from the Newton High School and Lasell Junior College. The groom is a graduate of Kimball Union and attended Dartmouth College.

Kiwanis Club

Archibald C. Bellinger, past president of the Newton Kiwanis Club, addressed the club members at their meeting on Wednesday at the Newton Y.M.C.A.

Mr. Bellinger spoke of the duties of funeral directors, their dignity in conducting services, their reverence for the dead and their concern for the families of the deceased persons. The cost of services and funerals he said are strictly due to the family's desires, although according to the 1945 Government survey, the cost of the average funeral is $332.00. The funeral directors' hours vary and they are called upon at all hours, lending services to the best of their ability. The work, Mr. Bellinger stated is a "humanitarian calling" and he is proud of the average funeral is $332.00, ing service to the best of his ability.

A dinner and Penny Sale followed by dancing will be held by the Newton Kiwanis Club on March 17 at the Newtonville Woman's Club to help swell the Underprivileged Child Fund. The dinner will be at 6:30 p.m.

On March 19 the Club will sponsor a party for the children at the New England Peabody Home for Crippled Children. The entertainment will include Albert Tood, magician, and others.

The Newton Kiwanis with nine other Clubs in the 5th Division, is considering plans for a gigantic circus to be held at Suffolk Downs the week of June 7.

Because of the Penny Sale next week's meeting has been postponed. At the next meeting members of the State Police will show a crime movie.

Enthusiastic Group Enjoys Concert to Aid Hospital Fund

Last Tuesday's concert in the Newton High School auditorium, held for the benefit of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Aid Association, was a most successful affair. Every number on the well-balanced program was greeted with unstinted applause; and it was evident that the audience, which practically filled the auditorium, enjoyed itself thoroughly.

The three Clubs appearing as one unit for the evening - the Highland Glee Club, the Amphion Club of Melrose and the Wollaston Glee Club - were splendid and gave a fine performance under Dr. Ralph Maclean's masterful direction. Their interpretation of the various selections could hardly have been improved upon and cannot help but enhance their reputation as among

Why People Give

It is interesting to note the reactions to a project like the Newton Tribute Foundation (sponsored by the Newton Garden Clubs), which is the proposed planting of flowering trees and shrubs along Commonwealth Avenue in honor of Newton veterans. Some have been unfavorable, it is true; such as suggesting that something be done about the housing situation, which naturally is not in the province of garden clubs.

But the majority of comments have been enthusiastic. "Thank goodness," said one contributor, "you're going to do something about Commonwealth Avenue." Someone else hinted that City Hall was the only really beautiful planting in the whole "garden city."

An old classmate greeted the husband of one of the committee members at a luncheon with, "I think this Commonwealth Avenue project a splendid idea. I want to be in on it," and gave a check to the husband then and there. Another check arrived with, "So much more sensible to have something living, and something of which the whole town can be proud." A more serious comment was, "Let's have those trees and shrubs a hope for peace as well as a reminder of war."

"You said," wrote a woman who had heard one of the garden club members speak on the project, "that no contribution would be too small, so I'm sending fifty cents. I wish it could be fifty dollars." A Newton school teacher wrote, "I'm giving in honor of four of my boys who did not come back."

Said a father of two service men, "It's more than gratitude for what our service men and women did. It's more than beautifying our city. It's thankfulness that we live in a country where we are still able to give." A gold star mother wrote, "My boy's hobby was gardening. I'm sure he'd be pleased with what we're doing." And the parents of a marine, who fought four years on the Pacific, wanted to help toward the living memorial, because their boy was spared.

These are the things that make a project like this, which originated from the casual conversation between a convalescing service man and his mother, a joy to be a part of. The Newton Tribute Foundation hopes that every citizen of Newton can be represented in their landscaping of the city's main artery and which eventually be turned over to the city and cared for by the city.

Politics With Color

by P. W. C.

(The opinions expressed in this column are the writer's own, and do not necessarily reflect the views or policy of this newspaper.—Editor's Note).

Newton Taxpayers' Assn.

Not long ago I had a conference with Bruce Smith, Executive Secretary of the Newton Taxpayers' Association, and discussed with him some of the material in the bulletin, "Common Interest", which tells about the work of the Association. As a result of this conference I was planning to give some much-needed publicity to the taxpayers' group. When, a day or two later, my mail brought me a brief note from our Governor's Council from this district, Otis M. Whitney, with the pungent comment that "No civic-minded Newtonian should be without this bulletin", a copy of which he enclosed, I decided that a special column was in order. So, here goes.

We have had in this city a taxpayers' association for a number of years, even tho' it has not always been as active as it might be. There is nothing much to be gained from giving the history of the organization. Frankly, it is not unduly impressive, especially as compared with quite a few other organizations of a similar nature throughout the commonwealth. However, despite past errors of omission and commission we now have a group that appears to be making considerable progress in a modest way. What is the Association doing at the moment?

It has had a sub-committee studying and analyzing the city budget. In that connection, both the Mayor and the Chairman of the Finance Committee of the Board of Aldermen, Theodore R. Lockwood met with the directors of the Newton Taxpayers' Association on Washington's Birthday. Quoting, now, from the Bulletin, "Common Interest," we find the following: "Prior to examining the budget many of your directors feared the establishment of permanent higher base salaries and wages. It may be well that eventually new and higher bases will be fixed in the various classifications, but until such time as economic conditions stabilize we endorse the modest adjustments and approve the bonus plan as properly affording temporary solutions. We are well aware that some city employees are dissatisfied because their total remuneration is not labeled as a permanent base. The citizens of Newton are fair-minded and your directors are confident that the employees will recognize the necessity of awaiting the proper time for permanent bases."

The Bulletin goes on to state that an eight million dollar business is too large and complex for any citizen or group of citizens to evaluate in minute detail and report thereon in a few days or weeks. Another very illuminating quotation follows:—"Since the day Mayor Hyde took office in 1873 it has been the accepted custom that the city's affairs can be successfully administered by a half-time executive. WE FEEL THE CITY HAS OUTGROWN THAT CUSTOM AND THAT HENCEFORTH IT REQUIRES THE EXECUTIVE'S FULL TIME." (The CAPS are my own). (Next week I shall have more to say about the Association and the highly interesting contents of its last Bulletin. Right now may I merely point out the significance of the above quotation. It is especially significant in view of the present personnel of the Board of Directors. Incidentally, in case some of my readers are not informed about certain details, the current President is Wendell R. K. Mick, the two Vice-Presidents are Marshall B. Dalton and Harry S. Midden-dorf, the Treasurer is Roland F. Gammons and the Clerk is Herbert N. McGill. Offices are at 302 Walnut Street, Newtonville, right near the railroad station. Yearly dues are $2.00. How about signing up and giving this vital organization a real boost?

Republican Open Forums

One of the most interesting developments in political affairs in the past year or two is the establishment of the Republican Open Forums with headquarters at 1638 Connecticut Ave., N. W., Washington, D. C. As nearly as I can learn the fundamental idea of these forums is to increase the interest in civic and political affairs on the part of the average citizen. As most of us realize only too well, the average citizen spends rather little time in political affairs. At election time, of course, we have a different situation. Thousands of people who are not politically-minded or who may actually have a keen distaste for politics and politicians, are persuaded to take off their coats and get to work to bring out the vote.

Now, I think it is fair to state that this idea is the brain-child of Harold E. Stassen, the former Governor of Minnesota and currently an avowed candidate for the G.O.P. Presidential nomination in 1948. That, however, is no reason for shying away from the proposition if you chance to favor the nomination of some other worthy G.O.P. statesman. Wellesley has an active forum right now and on March 5 the subject of the evening was "Do you believe that increasing teacher's pay is a responsibility of only state and local communities? The point here, of course, is whether or not you believe in federal aid to education. The Wellesley forum voted "Yes" by a margin of 17 to 10. In other words, if this particular group is thoroughly representative of the typical Wellesley resident, this community does NOT want to have federal aid coming to Wellesley for educational purposes. Interesting, is it not?

Kiwanis Club

The Newton Kiwanis Club sponsored an entertainment for the children at the New England Peabody Home on Wednesday afternoon.

The program included songs by Georgia Mae of WBZ radio fame and her mother; Albert Todd, magician; and Kiwanian Jack Janse accompanied at the piano by Marie Doherty, who led a joyous song fest, going from one rollicking song to another.

Ice cream was furnished by Bill Sullivan of the Hood Company and the rest of the goodies were furnished by the Kiwanis Club.

Robert Wilcox, was in charge assisted by Dr. Ernest Marcoux, Archie Bellinger, William Hahn, William Sullivan, William Duffy and Walter Hood.

The children's appreciation of the program was shown in their happy, smiling faces, and they are looking forward to the outing which will be sponsored for them by the Kiwanis Club at Norumbega Park in the early summer.

Rotary Club

Edward E. Whiting, President of the Board of Trustees of the Boston Elevated Railway, addressed Newton Rotary Club on Monday at the Brae Burn Country Club.

Mr. Whiting said that the Elevated's chief difficulty is to balance the rising operating costs without increasing the fare which has remained unchanged since 1919. Increase in the volume of travel is reflected in a rise in income of $27,000,000 in 1941 to $39,000,000 in 1946, an increase of 41.6%. On the other hand, operating expenses have risen to 65%.

The Company is burdened with large fixed charges imposed by the Legislature over which it has no power. Chief among this is the guaranteed $5.00 per share paid annually to over 6,000 stockholders. A number of remedies have been suggested. One has been adopted, namely, the elimination of the 5-cent fare for short distances. Since December 14, 1946, this has resulted in an increase of $508,000, and if this is a true indication will yield an annual additional income of $2,500,000. Some have suggested public ownership, others subsidies from public funds, still others acquisition of stock by the Company to reduce the fixed expenses which now seem out of line with going incomes on stocks. A bill is now before the Legislature to accomplish this solution of the Company's heavy fixed charge operation.

Mr. Whiting emphasized that the Company was not "on the rocks," but that it was in a good position to continue carrying its social obligation of transporting the people in the metropolitan area, even to maintaining those lines which are not self-supporting.

The Salvation Army lassies who made doughnuts famous in World War I, had originally planned to serve home-made fudge. They switched to the "twists" when the demand for food increased.

NEWTON IN THE PAST

From the Files of The Newton Graphic

55 Years Ago, March 18, 1892

The first snow drops of the season are reported from the garden of the Jackson homestead on Washington street.

At Sunday's services at the Church of the Messiah, the rector, Rev. John Matteson, announced that the vestry has appointed a committee to take the matter of building the new church in charge and arrange preliminaries. Land was bought some two years ago and various sums of money have been raised and more promised as a nucleus for actual building.

Citizens from this end (Newton Lower Falls) of Wellesley are out with a strong petition for a hose station and horse.

Mention has been made in a local paper that a box at the R.R. Station for the collection of mail matter would be quite a convenience. We learn that Postmaster Ellis has had such a scheme in mind for a long time and desirous of doing all he can for the public accommodation, has already written the department at Washington concerning the erection of a box at that place; and hopes that soon he may receive a favorable response to his application.

(N. Centre item).

50 Years Ago, March 19, 1897
The Claffin Guard, Co. C, 5th regiment, M.V.M., was inspected in its armory Monday evening, by Col. King of the governor's staff. The company turned out with full ranks under command of Capt. Springer, and underwent a very satisfactory inspection.

The slating of the roof of the Masonic building is progressing rapidly and a tower is being erected. A handsome coping graces the base of the tower.

The highway department expects to start work on the uncompleted section of the Commonwealth avenue boulevard within a week. Cars are expected to run over it and to Riverside by the first of May.

Three new links are being laid out on the grounds of the Newton Centre Golf Club. The ground is undergoing several improvements, and will be in excellent condition for the coming season. It is reported that the old house on the Bartlett estate is to be removed, and not occupied by the Golf Club as was expected.

25 Years Ago, March 17, 1922
Former Chief of Police Fred-eric M. Mitchell, who retired on March 1st, was surprised on Saturday afternoon by the gift of a gold watch by members of the force. The presentation was made by Capt. Burke on behalf of the men. Mrs. Mitchell, who was also present, was given a cameo pin.

The new parish rooms of the Church of the Good Shepherd were formally opened on Friday, February 24, with a supper, followed by the annual business meeting of the parish. There were 160 present; music was furnished by a quartet of male voices from the Union Church, and a welcoming speech was made by Rev. Mr. Loring of St. John's, Newtonville.

There is strong opposition to the erection of a block of seven stores at the corner of Walker and Washington streets.

Mr. Joseph W. Bartlett is chairman and Mr. Charles A. Andrews is a member of the committee just appointed to make plans for the nation-wide relief drive for the unemployed ex-soldiers to begin March 20th.

Jewish Family and Children's Service To Hold Institute

Three noted psychiatrists will take part in the eleventh annual institute sponsored by the Women's Committee of the Jewish Family and Children's Service, an Associated Jewish Philanthropies affiliate, on Wednesday night, March 26, at the Temple Ohabei Shalom Community Center, in Brookline.

Dawes of the Children's Hospital Psychiatric Department, will speak on "The Child Looks at the Parent," Dr. Erich Lindemann, chief of the Psychiatric Out-Patient Department of the Massachusetts General Hospital, will serve as Moderator.

Co-chairman of the Institute, which is one of the major educational projects sponsored by the Women's Committee, are Mrs. Joseph Schneider and Mrs. Joseph Nathan. Mrs. Max Slater is president of the Women's Committee and Mrs. Milton Lindon is hospital chairman.

Among the hostesses are Mrs. Moses Levenson, Mrs. Charles Dockser, Mrs. Oscar Turran, Mrs. Daniel Goldfarb, Mrs. Alfred Krips, Mrs. David Pokross, and Mrs. Paul Barabee. The latter and Mrs. Sidney Dunne are Publicity co-chairmen.

After the ceremony tomorrow the couple will leave on a motor trip through Northern New England and Canada. They will make their home in Chicago.

A MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARY OF WAR

How you can help

YOUR ARMY DO ITS PART FOR PEACE

WITH the President's proposal for the discontinuance of Selective Service on March 31, America will rely on voluntary enlistments for the maintenance of the Regular Army at authorized strength.

In view of world conditions today, this is a step of the gravest importance to every American citizen. Never before in history has any nation raised and maintained a million-man army by the volunteer system alone. Our ideals, our belief in individual freedom, our safety and our duty to promote world peace—all are bound up in this decision.

This is your Army, and voluntary enlistment is your choice. It must not fail. With your help it will not fail. The Army must continue to provide adequate occupation forces overseas, to supply these forces, and to help in keeping America strong and secure.

Your help and understanding can do much to encourage a steady flow of 3-year voluntary enlistments, necessary to sound training and the efficient performance of the Army's task.

When you discuss this subject with your sons, brothers, husbands or friends who may be considering an Army career, bear in mind the advantages offered by a 3-year enlistment. Among them are the choice of branch of service and of overseas theater where openings exist, and the opportunity for thorough training in valuable skills.

A job in the new Regular Army compares favorably with the average in industry, and has more opportunities for promotion than most.

You can help by giving your respect and support to the man who enlists voluntarily—to do his part in carrying out your country's world-wide obligations to build a peace that will endure.

WHAT IS PLAN E?

Plan E in Mass. is one of the five optional forms of city government which it is possible for any city to adopt by a majority of the votes cast on the question. It is sometimes referred to as the city manager, or the council manager, or the Cincinnati plan. Some cities in the country have a city manager without what is called proportional representation, some cities have proportional representation without having a city manager; Plan E is unique since it provides for the election of the city council and the school committee by a proportional representation vote.

As far as the voter is concerned proportional representation is not only democratic but simple. It is designed to bring about more representative local government. The individual voter is able to indicate not only which of the candidates he most prefers but he may indicate which of the other candidates he would help to elect if his first choice is already elected or if his first choice does not receive enough votes to get elected.

Under the usual method of voting, the voter may cast a ballot for only one man. If his ballot does not help to elect that candidate it is of no help to anyone else. Under a PR election the voter marks a 1 opposite the name of the candidate who best represents his opinion, a 2 opposite the name of the candidate who is his second choice, a 3 opposite his third, and so on until he has listed as many choices as he cares to make. He can express as many choices as there are candidates and thus make his vote really count.

In Newton where there are 7 wards there would be 7 council men elected by the city at large. The council chooses its own mayor or from among its own members. He serves as chairman of the school committee in addition to presiding over the council. His vote is counted as a council member and he has no veto power over the council. The school committee consists of the mayor and 6 other members elected by PR for 2 year terms.

The city manager is appointed by the council and holds office at its pleasure. He can be removed from office by the council which has sole authority for such action, and its decision cannot be appealed to any court or other body. On the other hand the city manager has the right to a public hearing before his removal, although he could be suspended awaiting the hearing. He can also demand a written statement from the council of its complaints.

The city manager is appointed entirely on his administrative and executive ability. He need not be a resident of the city or Commonwealth. His duties are extensive and his responsibilities are heavy; for that reason many cities have turned to graduates of such

A lifetime can be spent in crossing a street, warns the National Safety Council.

HAVE YOU SEEN TERRY?

He disappeared from the Sportsman's Show in Boston on February 8th. Terry is a golden Labrador Retriever, is 22 inches high and weighs about 55 lbs. He has a white cross on his chest. Terry is probably man-shy by this time, so don't speak to him or call him. He might be tempted with food. He is well trained and not vicious. Several persons report seeing him near Newton Centre recently. $100 reward is offered for his return. Call Big. 0920.

Newton, a former alderman, speaking on behalf of the members of the organization. Several members of the organization were present at the hearing.

Mr. Moriarty urged better supervision of the dump, and that only such material be placed there as could not be disposed of in the city incinerator; that the dump be filled in such a manner that it will become less objectionable; and that as there are many children in the vicinity the eventual use of the land as a playground would be appreciated by both children and their parents. He said the dump had been both a health menace and a fire hazard.

Mr. Cronin suggested that the city return to the weekly plan of collecting rubbish; that use of the city incinerator be increased; that a guard be placed at the gate entrance of the fence which has been erected around the dump, to supervise loads which are brought to the dump. He also suggested that Metropolitan District authorities be consulted with a view to establishing a common incinerator in some outlying district for use by all surrounding communities.

Following the hearing a proposed amendment to the city ordinances regulating the use of city dumps and incinerators was read to the Board of Aldermen by Alderman Kenneth McCutcheon and was then adopted by the Board. At the same time the Board set a charge of 10 cents per container (in excess of two) for the collection of ashes and rubbish from business establishments and stores. Schools, churches, benevolent societies and private dwellings will be exempt from this charge. Notices regarding the weekly collection of ashes and rubbish, and the separation of same, will be sent out to residents all over the city. The new amendment also requires that permits must be obtained from the street commissioner before loads, other than those collected by the city, can be placed in a city dump.

Residents of the city in the vicinity of the Pine Street dump have been assured of better supervision of the dump, that a guard will be on duty at the gate during the day and the gates locked at night and Sundays.

"Realizing Life While Living It"

A Sermon by Rev. Joseph C. MacDonald

There is a question which is asked by one of the characters in Thornton Wilder's play, "Our Town", and the question is this: "Do any human beings ever realize life while they are living it?"

I wonder! Do they? What would you say?

We spend so much of our time just getting ready. Now it is education that occupies us. Once those years are ended we are busy learning our job, and then busy trying to learn how to do it better. Then we begin to get ready to retire. So much of the time the present has meaning for us only in terms of the future. Real life is somehow in that future. We are anticipating it, preparing to live, really to live, only when we come into those good days ahead.

Again, we spend so much of our time making a living. The pressure of economic necessity is ever upon us. The farmer has his chores to do every day year in and year out. So does the city dweller though he dignifies them with much more impressive names. Certain things must be done. Service must be rendered. Wheels must be kept turning. Pay checks must be kept coming in. The emphasis in most cases is on making a living and not on making a life. The monthly bills almost compel us to feel that that arrangement is imperative. Yet the truth is that the end and object of this whole business of making a living should be making a life. "Else, wherefore born?"

Then too, we take so many things for granted. We assume so much, taking it as our due. How many have said that they never realized what good health meant until they suffered ill health. A woman, telling me of her joy in her new home, said that every time she went out she gave it a little pat. It was not really that way of course, but it was just a thought, the tribute of a happy and grateful heart. Yet so many take their homes, and the dear ones in them, for granted. The material and the spiritual blessings of life we accept without much thought. All too frequently we suffer from hardening of the arteries of appreciation.

Once again, all to often we restrain our feeling and hold our imaginations in check. Life in a suburban city such as this has helped along that process. We have the feeling that we have seen, heard or experienced almost everything. The radio, the illustrated magazines and the newspapers have brought the world to our doors. In so many ways we have become sophisticated. We are not easily stirred. So much of what comes is an old story. We take it, as we say, in our stride. Life has somehow lost its freshness and its thrill.

Yet this is life—this living out the days and years as they come. Life, for us, is this daily round of activity and rest, of work and play. It is dashing off to the morning train, or getting the children off to school, or doing our morning shopping, or answering the telephone a dozen times a day, or talking with our neighbors about the weather, or reading a paper or a book, or going to a committee meeting, or doing the necessary tasks in a store or office, or worshipping in God's house. Yes, this is life. These are the threads with which we weave the pattern as we come and go. It is this that is life for us.

We turn back to the question with which we began. "Do any human beings ever realize life while they are living it?" Surely they should but how frequently do they?

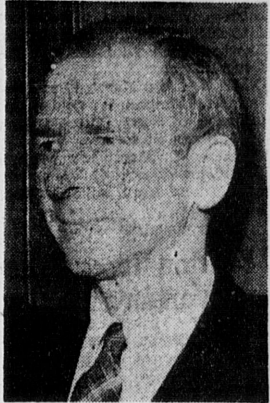

If there is one thing that we greatly need it is more of an awareness that this gift of the days is God's gift to you and to me. We need to feel the wonder and the glory of it. Our year here is an adventure upon a floating island in space. We are God's ambassadors for a time to this world of his. Somehow we must quicken our imagination, lift up our vision and stir our hearts and spirits afresh that we may see it all and feel it all even as He does.

Then to this sense of awareness must be added an eagerness to make our days count for more. It is for us to enjoy what life offers and to find much of our enjoyment in sharing with others, those whose eyes are "holden", as the Bible puts it, so that they do not see nor appreciate as they should the material and spiritual riches of God's world. Perhaps we never can "recapture the first fine careless rapture" that was ours when the world was young for us. But something of its splendor should linger with us. Eagerly we seek after it, through nature, friends, worship, that we may live our days with it in our hearts.

Robert Louis Stevenson understood all that so well and he put it into words that should ever be our prayer:

"If I have moved among my race
And shown no glorious morning
face;
If beams from happy human eyes
Have moved me not; if morning skies,
Books and my food, and summer
rain
Knocked on my sullen heart in vain—
Lord, thy most pointed pleasure take
And stab my spirit broad awake!"

THE UNION CHURCH IN WABAN

The Union Church in Waban is one of the younger churches of the city of Newton. Its first informal meetings were held in December of 1904. For several years the ministers who served the Church were men living in other parts of Newton or of Greater Boston. It was not until 1912 that the Church had its first resident minister. He was Charles Herick Cutler, D.D. and he served the Church until the fall of 1925. From that time until his death last November he was the Minister Emeritus. Mr. MacDonald's ministry began in 1926. By that time the small church building had been outgrown and a new building was needed. This building program was undertaken in 1926-27. About a year ago the Church dedicated its Chapel, which is adjacent to the nave.

The Church's organizations, in addition to a large and flourishing Church School, consist of the Women's Association, the Men's Club, the Junior Women's Group, the High School Club, and the Saints and Sinners, an organization for the Junior High Group.
The Church is very definitely united in spirit, its members being drawn from many different denominations. It has a denominational affiliation only for the purpose of giving its Minister standing with some group and of giving a channel for part of its benevolences.
The Director of Religious Education is Miss Jean Ashley and the Organist and Choir Director is Mr. Earl Weidner.

"The New Poland—From Tragedy to Triumph", will be the subject of the address to be given by His Excellency, Josef Winiewicz, at the Community Church of Boston at Jordan Hall, Sunday, March 23, at 10:30 A.M.

Mr. Winiewicz, until the outbreak of the war, was editor-in-chief of the "Dziennik Poznanski" (Poznan Daily), one of the oldest newspapers in Poland. He had made a special study of the German problem and was considered a great authority on this matter. A few months before the war he published a book on "The Mobilization of the German Forces in Poland". During the war Mr. Winiewicz was in England where he continued his research with regard to German problems. He published a number of works, a few of which were: "German Withdrawal in the East" (1941), "German Failures in Poland" (1942), and "Have We Allies Inside Germany" (1944). After the war Mr. Winiewicz held the post of First Counselor of the Polish Embassy in London. In 1945 he published a booklet entitled "The Polish-German Frontier" in which he explained Poland's rights to the Recovered Territories. In 1946 Mr. Winiewicz took part in the Paris Conference and the UN General Assembly as a member of the Polish Delegation. He was recently appointed Ambassador from Poland to the U. S. and arrived in the U. S. in January.

Swedish Philosopher Visits High School

Recently Newton High School was honored by a visit from Eric J. Holmberg, a doctor of Philosophy from Sweden. Dr. Holmberg is visiting selected institutions of higher learning in the United States to observe modern American teaching methods. Newton High School was chosen because of its high educational standing.
Dr. Holmberg, headmaster of Goteborgs Hogre Samskola, the equivalent of an American high school, is also an assistant professor at Goteborgs Hogskola, which is comparable to one of our colleges or universities.
He was escorted through the school by Allen Brailey, president of the civics board. Visiting several social studies classes, Dr. Holmberg said that he felt that the introduction of current events and familiarizing of students with the duties of citizenship as executed in our classes surpasses the Swedish method of teaching this subject.

WALTER F. GREENWOOD

Interesting Musical Program at Auburndale Church

The evening of Palm Sunday, March 30th, will be the occasion for an outstanding musical program at the Centenary Methodist Church in Auburndale.

The program will be conducted by Walter F. Greenwood, of Newtonville, well-known director of choirs, choral societies and glee clubs, and guest soloist will be the distinguished soprano, Esther-May Barrett, who has been praised by the New York Times for her voice of "fresh and lovely quality."

Mr. Greenwood who was educated at the New England Conservatory of Music, specialized in conducting under George M. Chadwick. He studied oratorio with David Bispham and was graduated from the American Academy of Dramatic Art. For several years he was head of the vocal department of Elon College, N. C., and as a teacher and singer, has maintained studios in Norfolk, Va., Cleveland and Columbus, Ohio, and Boston. Miss Barrett has given recitals in Jordan Hall, Boston; Town Hall, New York City; has sung in music festivals, oratorio and opera and toured the South and Middle West.

For over four years these two musicians, who are husband and wife, have appeared in Protestant churches throughout New England before congregations numbering thousands. This unique type of program which combines music "by the people and for the people" features congregational singing of the great hymns of the Christian church, led by Mr. Greenwood, and supplemented by Miss Barrett's solos. Although many great soloists have first found their possibilities as singers through participation in church choirs Esther-May Barrett has been one of the few persons to dedicate her talents chiefly to the expression of spiritual aspirations in terms of song as her life work.

The service will not be a concert in the usual sense of that term but is a program designed to use great music for spiritual health and inspiration to Christian living. The public is invited to attend this "Festival of Music" which will begin at 7 p.m.

Dutch elm disease first showed up in the United States in 1930 in Cleveland. Now it is found over an area from the New England states to Indiana, and southward to Virginia.

NEWTON FIRE DEPARTMENT

FIRE PREVENTION SERVICE

Fire Prevention Service

There is a saying that no two fires are alike. There are, however, several features of the elements of combustion that are common to certain fires and knowledge of these should be of value to those interested in preventing and extinguishing fires.

The first of these is that many substances, such as oil, never burns, but are vaporized by the heat, and the vapors, mixing with air, are then ignited. This burning of vapor-air mixtures produce flame which is defined as a body of burning gas or vapor.

The second form of fire is where the material itself oxidizes and produces heat, generally with little actual flame. Examples of these are charcoal, coke and magnesium.

In general, fires in ordinary combustible material pass through both stages. Heat applied to material commonly used or found in buildings, such as wood, paper, cloth and other combustibles, drives off various gases and vapors. They may not burn, because of insufficient heat to produce ignition, as can be noted in a fireplace, where it is common to see jets of unburned vapor. Eventually these vapors will ignite and burn, generally as a long colored flame, with highly heated products of combustion extending beyond. In this type of burning, as can be noted with a lighted match, the production of heat is near the top of the flame and little actual heat extends down into the wood. In fact it is very hard to make a fire burn from the top downward. Thus in the early stages of any fire there is a large amount of vapor given off, which will be partially or completely burned. If partially burned, which may be because of insufficient oxygen, it produces a dense smoke, with not much heat produced. If the vapors are completely consumed there will be much flame, and a large amount of heat, but as said before, this heat will be at the top of the flame and above it. In fact, it is not at all uncommon, especially in oil fires, to have the heated combustible vapors extend many feet above the material before it receives enough oxygen to actually flame.

It is because of this burning above the material, especially in interior fires involving oil, that it becomes necessary to spray the upper portion of the room to kill this intense heat and allow the men to attack the seat of the fire.

For solid combustible material, there is this first stage, then as the resins and other readily volatilized materials are driven off and burned there will be left almost pure carbon in the form of charcoal or coke.

The second stage of a fire then takes action. As heat is applied, usually by flame impinging on the charcoal, further combustion takes place with the production of red or white hot embers, and these in turn heat other combustible material until there is a mass of burning embers.

Heated gases rise rapidly and can spread the fire to other parts of a building unnoticed. The fumes from the burning materials, can cause asphyxiation especially if a person is at all sleepy without them realizing it.

Save your home and family from needless destruction by fire. Do your duty now and make it free from fire hazards so that they can enjoy living.

Auburndale Woman's Club Names Officers

"An outstanding feature of celanese is its resistance to absorption of dirt and moisture," said Miss Marie Lefebvre, speaking before the Auburndale Woman's Club Tuesday afternoon March 18. This valuable quality of the material was a momentary stumbling block in 1925 to the Dreyfus brothers, when they discovered their new product resisted the absorption of known dyes. Back to their laboratory went the two scientists to perfect special dyes to make celanese the colorful modern fabric of many uses which it is today.

Miss Lefebvre of the Consumer Relations Department of the Celanese Corporation of America, graphically explained the celluloseacetate process from raw, liquid state to pure white yarn. Plastic products, a compact and jewelry of lumiarth, made from the same base as celanese yarn, were exhibited. Turning to fabrics, Miss Lefebvre illustrated her talk with a colorful display of celanese samples which included chifonise, sheer curtain material, clairaine, a taffeta weave, unlighted, with the swish woven in; Reprise, with a permanent moire design fused with heat onto a faille-type fabric; and Jernanese, warp-knit, a no-run, no wrinkle material.

During the business meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. Eric J. Kermath, the following slate of officers was presented to the club for consideration, by the nominating committee: President: Mrs. Darragh L. Higgins; 1st Vice President: Mrs. D. William Lovell; 2nd Vice President: Mrs. William A. Leighton; Recording Secretary: Mrs. Edwin C. Harkins; Cor. Secretary: Mrs. Thomas E. Crosby; Treasurer: Mrs. Wendell B. ## Three Injured When Bus and Auto Collide

Three persons were injured in a collision between a bus and an automobile on Friday evening at the corner of Washington and Adams streets, Newton.

The accident happened at about 7:20 p.m. as the bus was about to make a left turn from Adams street to Washington street. The automobile was proceeding west on Washington street.

Ross A. Getty, driver of the automobile, his brother, George A. Getty, and their father, Albert J. Getty, all of Somerville, were injured and were removed to the Newton-Wellesley Hospital in the police ambulance. All received cuts and bruises and the elder Getty suffered a back injury.

There were 24 passengers in the bus but none of them claimed injuries. The bus was operated by Lewis E. Higgins of 1001 Watertown street, West Newton.

At about the same time two boys, Edward Mullane, 14, of West Roxbury and Paul Lee, 12, also of West Roxbury, were struck by an automobile on Commonwealth Avenue, near Lake Street as they were walking across Commonwealth Avenue toward the Lake Street terminal. Mullane, who suffered head and internal injuries and lacerations, was removed to the Newton-Wellesley Hospital. The Lee boy was taken to St. Elizabeth's hospital by a passing motorist. He suffered lacerations of the face.

Kenneth J. Gallant of 73 Undine street, Brighton, driver of the car, told the police he did not see the boys, and they claimed they did not see the car approaching.

Auburndale Children's Entertainment

This is the last in a series of four programs for children sponsored jointly by the Auburndale Woman's Club and the Auburndale Club to benefit the new Children's Wing of the Auburndale Public Library.

The hostesses will be: Mrs. Lester York, who will play the piano for the children before the entertainment begins; Mrs. Clifford Beecher, Mrs. Edgar J. Boardman, Mrs. Raymond Brooks, Mrs. Victor Jordan, Mrs. Walter Jehu, Mrs. Lyndell Layman, Mrs. D. William Lovell, Mrs. Payson LeBaron, and Mrs. Albert Terkelson.

Newton Ctr. Woman's Club Celebrates President's Day

President's Day was celebrated at the Newton Centre Woman's Club on Friday, March 14. In the receiving line with the President, Mrs. John W. Gahan, were Mrs. Harry Clark Barber, first vice president; Mrs. Virgil Casten, second vice president; Mrs. James Mitchell, secretary and Mrs. Willard W. Rice, treasurer. Among the special guests were Mrs. William E. Shedd, old-est living president of the club, who presented its history; Mrs. Arthur W. Cornell, Twelfth District president; Miss Adelaide B. Ball, president of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Charles Fuller, chairman of the budget for the Massachusetts Federation and Mrs. Charles Stevens, Central Regional vice president.

Mrs. Shedd stated that the three aims in the constitution at the time the club was organized in 1887 by 25 women have been kept in mind all through the years. They are (1) mutual improvement in literary, artistic and educational interests; (2) rendering aid in worthy or charitable causes; (3) promotion of social intercourse. In 1887 the club made the first contribution toward the purchase of the Newton Centre playground, and in 1889 held a fair which netted $2500 for this playground. The next civic effort was the starting of the summer vacation school for children in the Mason School building. This vacation work is now carried on by the Recreation Department of the city of Newton and is conducted on the playgrounds throughout the city.

Mrs. Shedd stated that in 1921 a generous gift of land enabled the club to build its present clubhouse. All money for the building was raised by club members. The clubhouse contains an auditorium with a well-equipped stage, a reception room, dining room, green room, kitchen and art gallery.

Mrs. Shedd said that the clubhouse is now a community center. On Wednesday the Red Cross have canteen luncheons and sewing at the clubhouse; all voting in Newton Centre is conducted here as well as public meetings such as Community Chest, the Improvement Association or the Red Cross; other clubs use the clubhouse for meetings, plays, receptions and dances. A promising girl is assisted to attend the college of her own choosing, by means of the scholarship fund.

The club is non-sectarian and non-political. It is a unifying factor in the community whose population has so increased that Newton Centre has quite lost its village atmosphere.

Following the meeting Mr. Bos-is Goldovsky, famous pianist, teacher and interpreter of opera delighted the large gathering with his musical selections and comments.

Gray Ladies for Cushing

Out at Cushing Hospital in Framingham, some sick veteran will have a birthday within the week. A birthday cake and some gifts brought to his bedside by a Red Cross Gray Lady will cheer him up no end. A discouraged man would like a game of checkers. Here is an errand to be done and the nurses too busy to attend to it. The request has come to Red Cross for more Gray Ladies for Cushing to give the little extra touches of service that make illness, if not comfortable, at least bearable. The plea is for extra pairs of hands and cheerful dispositions to bring comfort to our sick veterans. There is a very special need for people who can serve in this capacity evenings and weekends. Would you help by giving a few hours a week? Interviews will be held on Thursday, April 17. For further information call LASell 6000 and ask for Volunteer Special Services.

The budget, the highest in years, is approximately a million dollars more than the 1946 budget. According to Chairman Theodore R. An automobile owned by Dudley Thornbury of 72 Adella avenue, West Newton, which had been left parked in the driveway of the Second Congregational Church, West Newton, on Sunday afternoon by his son, William Thornbury, suddenly started to roll out of the driveway and crossing Margin street crashed into the iron rail fence in the rear of the West Newton railroad station, breaking away about 15 feet of the fence and then hung suspended over the lower level driveway of the station, the rear wheels having caught in a way that prevented the car from dropping to the roadway.

Women Colonels

In May when Colonel Florence Blanchfield, superintendent of the army nurse corps, and Colonel Westray Battle Boyce, director of the WAC, retire the army will lose its only two women colonels. Unless there is another war it may well be that no other woman will ever attain such a high ranking in our military forces. Years ago old army men would have been shocked if it was suggested that any woman could get such a high rating. Colonels Blanchfield and Boyce, however, proved the fair sex could fill the grades with real distinction.

Live Mines

A live, anti-tank land mine was found on a street in a highly congested section of Brooklyn the other day. Whether it was abandoned by a souvenir collector, placed there with malicious or mischievous intent or whatever its origin, it offered a real threat to life and property. For years those arms and other fabrications made for killing in war are going to plague us from time to time in peace through the carelessness and thoughtlessness of some people.

To get some idea of the troubles the Balkan nations have with each other, imagine what would happen if Florida and California had common borders.

It is said that the world can be destroyed even more quickly by atomic energy than by communism.

Incentive is reduced every time government enters into competition with its citizens, because it demands special privilege and tax exemptions which are not accorded the individual.

Politics With Color

by P. W. C.

(The opinions expressed in this column are the writer's own, and do not necessarily reflect the views or policy of this newspaper.—Editor's Note.)

No Hush-Hush

For the past 16 months there has been a great deal of talking on the street-corners in many other places concerning the situation in our Street Department. The reason for this is, of course, obvious. Late in 1945 the citizens of Newton were startled, to put it mildly, at the sudden disclosure that all was not well within the Street Department. Almost immediately our then Street Commissioner, John D. Haughey, resigned and Harold F. Young, who had been serving as Secretary to Mayor Goddard, was appointed to the vacancy. Subsequently, Mr. Young was formally appointed to fill the vacancy on a permanent basis.

Inasmuch as indictments had been returned against a number of residents of Newton who were mixed up in the so-called scandal, the scene thereupon shifted to the office of the District Attorney for Middlesex County. The present District Attorney is George E. Thompson of Melrose, who succeeded our Governor, Hon. Robert F. Bradford, who was elected Lt. Governor in the fall of 1944.

Now, what has happened since these indictments were returned? Again, the answer is painfully obvious. There has been a long delay in bringing the case to trial. And that is precisely the reason for all the mutterings and complaints which have been heard all over Newton for a great many months. A lot of people have erroneously, (in the writer's opinion) jumped to the conclusion that where there is so much smoke there must be fire. I mean by that, that there are those who sincerely believe that this whole unpleasant business involves somebody higher up in our local government and that said higher-up is currently being protected while the case is being held on ice. It is my considered opinion that this is NOT true. I have talked with the three top men in the city government and have been told the same thing by all three; namely, that our own officials are more anxious than anybody else to get the matter cleared up and have done everything in their power to hurry up the District Attorney. If the latter official is either unable or unwilling to move any faster than he has up to date, just what can Mayor Goddard, President of the Board of Aldermen or City Solicitor Bartlett do about it. Mull that over, please.

Newton Taxpayers Ass'n.

Last week I promised to say something about our local Taxpayers Association and its interesting bulletin. To begin with, there are 22 directors in addition to the five officers and the Executive Secretary mentioned last week. Of these 22 it so happens that only three have ever served on our Board of Aldermen. The three are Donald D. McKay of Newton Highlands, Frank L. Richardson, prominent banker from Waban and Maxwell P. Gaddis of West Newton. McKay is especially remembered as a hard-working Chairman of the Finance Committee of the Board and Gaddis did some of his best work in connection with traffic problems. All three are substantial businessmen.

In view of the fact that there used to be some criticism of the conservative tendencies of the original Taxpayers Association, it is worth-while noting that there are quite a few rather liberal-minded members of the present Board. If there is any constructive suggestion which might be offered for the future it would be along the lines of getting some representation from our younger group of public-spirited citizens.

Referring, now to the Bulletin No. 2 entitled "Common Interest," from which I quoted liberally last week, let me give my readers one more quotation, as follows: "Your directors recommend the employment of a trained city manager."

This stand of the Taxpayers Association is particularly interesting because of the current rumor that one of our candidates for Mayor this coming election is inclined to doubt the wisdom of such a step. We shall have more to say about this at a later date.

At this point we shall let the Taxpayers group rest for the moment and pass on to an equally interesting topic.

State Legislature

Your columnist ventured to enter the sacred halls of our State Legislature a week ago, when our solons were passing the state budget. First of all, may I say that I find myself still inclined, to put it mildly, to watch the proceedings of this body and note the apparent indifference of the average legislator to the debate on any given question, regardless of its importance. Many men appear to be interested only when they themselves are speaking. In fact, it happens at times that it is difficult to hear all the debate on account of the constant chattering of quite a few legislators. Of course, I have been told that the same thing happens in the halls of Congress in Washington, so perhaps I am unduly sensitive.

One thing which amused me that day was the frantic efforts of a few Democrats to amend certain sections of the budget. Almost invariably they started off by criticizing very sternly the extravagance of the Governor and his party; in a moment, however, the same men were begging the Legislature to add thousands and thousands of dollars to the revised budget. It is to laugh.

A. P. Dotson to Speak on Plan E

The League of Women Voters of Newton as part of its policy of providing information of value to citizens has secured Mr. Archie P. Dotson, a teaching Fellow at Harvard, now studying for a Ph. D. in government, to speak at an open Discussion Group meeting next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Newtonville Library Hall, on Plan E and PR.

Mr. Dotson, who comes to us well-recommended as a speaker on city government had considerable administrative experience during the war in the army where he held the rank of Major.

Rotary Club

The Newton and Waltham Rotary Clubs held a joint Ladies' Night at the Normandie Room, Norumbega Park on Monday night with a large number of members of both clubs and Rotary-Anns present.

Following a delicious dinner served by Hicks, an entertainment was given by the Raleigh Brothers of Newton at the loud speaker and although the music and sound came from records their timing and motions were extremely clever and well appreciated.

A very inspiring talk was given by Dr. Edwin Canham, Editor of the Christian Science Monitor.

Dr. Canham is tops among newspaper editors, and just having returned from the Pacific—Japan, Korea and the Philippines, he naturally gave a most enlightening talk. He emphasized the fact that Gen. MacArthur had done an outstanding piece of work in Japan in revolutionizing that country toward the democratic way of life. He also stated that American women have been sent to Japan to instruct the Japanese women along democratic ways, and their response has been most unusual. The Korean situation is another story, as that country is divided: In the northern part, Russia and Communism has a very strong hold, while in the southern part of Korea, under U. S. A.—General Hodge in charge—the people are more confused than ever. Dr. Canham also covered the Philippines and stated that devastation there was almost 70%. All in all, the evening was a most enjoyable one and certainly everyone left with a better understanding of conditions in the Pacific.

Among the guests was "Cap" Alton who told the lady guests a little of the meaning of Rotary. Arnold McIntosh of the Needham Club was also present.

Next Monday's meeting will be devoted to the Problem of Greater Boston when Rev. Smith of the Boston Rotary Club will speak and introduce T. T. McCroskey, Executive Director of the Greater Boston Development Commission, who will give a business-like account of the commission's activities and plans for the development of Greater Boston.

This is important stuff for Rotary! Ted Lockwood, Rupe Thompson and other Newton Rotarians, on occasion have spent many hours working with this group as Newton Rotary's official delegates to the Rotary Metropolitan Development committee.

In view of the importance of this meeting to all residents of Newton, we are inviting the Mayor and certain other public officials to share the occasion with us. This event should have top priority on your calendar, not only as Newton Rotarians, but as a citizen of the Metropolitan area.

Girl Scout Comm.
To Sponsor Movie

The West Newton Girl Scout Village Committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Alfred A. Crandall, announces the sponsorship of a movie to be held at the Warren Junior High School on Saturday morning, April 5th at 10 o'clock. Swiss Family Robinson and one half hour of cartoons will be featured. There will be candy for sale in the lobby.

West Newton's annual spring money raising event, so that Girl Scouting may be carried on in the Village for the coming year is under the direction of Mrs. Ernest O. Seyforth, finance chairman. She will be assisted by Mrs. Sylvester Kelley in charge of posters and tickets, Mrs. Stafford Witte, and Mrs. Fred Wells. Troop leaders will attend the movies with their troops and the public is invited. Tickets may be obtained at the door, or purchased in advance from any West Newton Girl Scout or Brownie.

NEWTON IN THE PAST

From the Files of The Newton Graphic

55 Years Ago, March 25, 1892

The Newton & Boston Street Railway is to be extended to Newton Highlands, in spite of the protests of those living on the street, and judging from the numerous signed petitions presented in favor of the extension, the majority of the people in Ward Five are in favor of having street railway connection with the outside world.

A new long distance telephone is to be put in the guarm room at police headquarters by order of Mayor Hibbard. It will be a great convenience and may be of great advantage in hastening the ends of justice.

At the last sociable of the Unitarian church, Admiral Kimberly entertained the audience with an account of his first visit to Japan in 1858. It was an interesting and instructive address, and a unanimous vote of thanks was tendered him by the company present.

Waban is getting to be a village of "clubs" especially among the young people. The young ladies have already formed two clubs, "S. B." and the "S. H. G." from which the boys are entirely excluded. A few of the jealous ones give most amusing, but they are apt to be free rather than literal translations. The "S. H. G." has a noble purpose, and it is an assured fact, that they will do some profitable work during the coming months.

50 Years Ago, March 26, 1897

Tuesday was a perfect spring day, such as we seldom see in March, and it brought out swarms of bicycles of both sexes, especially on the new boulevard, which was in fine condition, but the cold rain of Wednesday put an end to sport for some time.

It is reported that the stores to be vacated in the Nonantum block are already rented by some courageous merchants, who will open a new grocery, and antique see the great number of people furniture stores. Strangers who who take the cars, think Nonantum Square must be a great business center.

The Newton Street Railway are this week setting their poles for the new line from Waltham to Benis, and they expect to finish, and begin work on the Newton side next Monday.

Within a few days the Associated Athletic Clubs will commence the erection of their new club house at Riverside. The building will be on the south side of the B. & A. R. R. bridge on the Weston shore of the river.

There is some talk of forming a bicycle club among the members of the Hunnewell Hill Club. 25 Years Ago, March 24, 1922

The original rag doll made by

Louisa M. Alcott, the Jo of "Little Women" when she was a little girl of seven, is to appear on the stage of Jordan Hall on Saturday afternoon, April 1st, in the Lend a Hand Dramatic Club's performance of "Little Women."

A Senior Dance will be held at the Waban Neighborhood this Saturday. Walter Johnson's Orchestra will furnish the music.

The Ladies' Circle came out in good numbers last week to sew for the New England Peabody Home for Crippled Children. They will work all day, April 5th, for the Floating Hospital, and a hot lunch will be served at noon.

Sweep the sand off your sidewalk and receive the blessings of your neighbors.

A wild west show was staged Tuesday afternoon on the railroad track near St. James street bridge when an angry and ugly cow, which had become so obstreperous that she had to be killed. The removal of the carcass up the steep railroad bank at this point was also a problem. A large number of spectators watched the affair.

Mr. Mitchell enjoys good health and a daily walk around Newtonville square.

Dr. Barstow Appeals For Contributions to Osteo. Hospital Fund

Dr. Myron B. Barstow of 420 Hammond street, Chestnut Hill, president of the board of trustees of the Massachusetts Osteopathic Hospital and one of the original applicants for its charter, appealed today for generous public subscription to the 1947 Building and Endowment Fund, emphasizing the hospital's need for expansion.

A goal of $250,000, to be raised between April 25 and May 24, will provide much-needed increased bed capacity, enlarged nursery and maternity quarters and added equipment for the out-patient department. For the first time in its 19-year existence, an appeal is being made for an addition to the hospital to care for a continually increasing number of patients.

"For several years this hospital has had a long waiting list," declared Dr. Barstow, who is also chief of its osteopathic service. "Unless we act now on our building program, thousands of people in the Greater Boston area will be denied osteopathic hospital care."

A graduate of the American School of Osteopathy in 1915 and member of national and local osteopathic organizations, Dr. Barstow was treasurer of the Massachusetts Osteopathic Hospital from 1927 to 1936. His fraternal affiliations include the Masons, and Atlas Club. He is a veteran of World War I.

Mr. William Hazlett Upson, author of the famous "Alexander Bots" stories which appear in the Saturday Evening Post, will be the guest speaker. Mr. Upson dislikes being labeled a humorist, but most of his remarks to be delivered here are expected to be in a jocular vein. Mr. Upson lives and works in a Vermont village, from which he dispenses the products of his mellow humor, the "Earthworm Tractor" series, to an eager public. It is a rare treat for his many admirers when he is persuaded into appearing on the platform.

Special Music at Central Cong. Church Palm Sunday; New Organ, Chimes to Be Used for First Time

The beauty of the Palm Sunday service at Central Congregational Church in Newtonville will be enhanced by the new echo-antiphonal organ and chimes which will be used for the first time. Beginning at 10:45, a fifteen minute prelude will be played by Lillian W. West, organist, and George W. Rowings, violinist. The music of the service has been selected to show the effects of the new organ, and especially of the chimes. The Chancel Choir and Youth Choirs will sing "Palm Branches, with Franklin G. Field as soloist, and an anthem by Clarence Dickinson written especially for use with chimes. The Minister of the church, Rev. Randolph S. Merrill, will preach on "The Centurion at the Cross."

Church by two members, is located in a special chamber at the side of the rear gallery with a suitable opening covered with case work to allow the tone to pass into the body of the church. This organ is connected with the main console or key boards located in the chancel, and can be played separately or with the main organ.

This new section is of great value in supporting the choir at the beginning of the service when they sing the first part of the processional hymn in the narthex. The Diapason and Trumpet which have been included are also valuable for supporting congregational singing.

Many beautiful Echo effects have been made available by the inclusion of such voices as the Echo Salicional Celeste, the Cor-

Bigelow Junior High School News

Bigelow Junior High school boys recently had the privilege of hearing Mr. Warren Switzer, department head of the Newton Trade school, speak to them about the opportunities and range of activities at the Trade school. Mr. Switzer brought with him three representatives from different fields and levels at the school: William Sweeney, Robert Briggs and Joseph Pascucci. These boys gave their reasons for choosing the courses they are now taking at Trade school. A question and answer period followed the talks.

Recently-elected officers in the three seventh grade home rooms include as presidents, Dorothy Gordon, James Paterson, Michael Bowman; as vice-presidents, Patricia Harrison, Julia Swope, Elizabeth Lee; as secretaries, Fred Dauten, Katherine Zipf, Irene Mihalakos; and as treasurers, Thelma Berch, Benson Woodroffe, Peter Lauder.

Many Bigelow students have purchased tickets to the Youth Concert at Symphony Hall next month. The concert program will consist of musical selections from the opera "Samson and Delilah," sung by the Newton High school mixed chorus.

Eighth grade students met in the music hall Wednesday afternoon, March 19, to receive directions for conducting their campaign for class officers. The next day, Thursday, pupils who wished to run for office gave their speeches before the assembled eighth grade. Candidates included John Bibbo, Charles Morrissey, Robert Shannon, Robert Larsen, Fred Connolly, Alice Lee, Robert Wilkie, Nancy Boucher, David Rich, William Russell, Justine Appleton and Catherine Dolan. Officers elected were: John Bibbo, class president; Fred Connolly, vice-president; Robert Wilkie, secretary; David Rich, treasurer.

The following seventh grade pupils are on the honor roll for the second quarter of the year: Frank Avantaggio, Thelma Berch, Thomas Brown, Conger Fawcett, Harriet Goldberg, Miriam Gorn, Edward Kabler, George Larkin, de-Nuit and the Vox Humana. The set of twenty-five Chimes produce a very beautiful effect due to their peculiar location.

A special service of music, with William E. Zeuch as guest organist, will be held in May, when the new organ will be dedicated.

Central Church will unite with the other Newtonville churches in the Union Palm Sunday services at the Newtonville Methodist Church at 7:30 in the evening.

Elizabeth Lee, Elizabeth Le-fevre, Donald Livingston, Peter Lunder, Toby Lunder, Marianne Marshall, Irene Mihalakos, Anne Morrison, Anne Perkins, Natalie Peterson, Jean Rambeau, David Segel, Irene Tierney, Benson Woodroffe, Allan Wright, Katherine Zipf. These pupils received no grades lower than B in any subject.

On Thursday, March 20, the Girls' Glee Club directed by Miss Julia Hubbard, made three recordings with the help of Mr. James Remley, supervisor of music education in the Newton public schools. The Boys' Glee Club also made three recordings. Later, more recordings will be made in order to see whether improvement has taken place in the meantime.

HOW FREE ARE WE?

Popular usage does strange things with the meanings of words and no change in meaning has been more interesting than what has happened to the words "planned" and "free." When once the word planning might mean, for instance, that a farmer was doing a good job of crop rotation and intelligent storing of his produce, we have now begun to hold the word suspect. To many it means some one else's "planning" for us. To many people's minds it means governmental planning, that is, interference in our right to live as we please. We have also changed the meaning of the word "free." From its political and sociological meaning we are more apt to use it in relation to our economic life. Just recently our country was practically and emotionally divided on the subject of planning in relation to price control. At that time we heard a good deal of talk about return to a "free economy"—an economy in which the law of supply and demand would be the determining factor in the price and abundance of a product.

But how free are we? Many of us are under the impression that free enterprise and free competition are the same thing. Under free competition price would become the regulator of economic activities. The price paid for any given article or for any service offered would determine what would be produced under such a system. Demand would regulate what activities labor and capital would be engaged in; industry under free competition would presumably be efficient because the consumer would buy where he could get the most for his money. Because of this belief many of us approach our economic problems as if they would be solved if business were not given so much government interference. And along with this idea there is the assumption that the incentive of wages and profits will keep men producing at their highest capacity and that the most efficient work will be rewarded with the highest pay.

There are a number of factors which prevent this simple relationship. To state it in the simplest possible terms, we may say that there are three factors which prevent the automatic functioning of a freely competitive economy with price as a regulator. The first is widespread monopoly practices, the second is extensive credit, and the third is the fact that there is a desire to save regardless of returns on saving.

Widespread monopolistic practices of three main types operate against the consumer. First, a business may become so prosperous as to buy out competition. Secondly, manufacturers of similar products may agree among themselves to a certain price, or at least a price floor. Third, the control of a raw material or a patent may enable one man to control the field.

Money and bank credit may also act to prevent the automatic functioning which we discussed above. For instance, extension of credit—a promise to pay in the future for present purchases—enables a wholesaler to stock up on goods for which he will pay when he has sold them. Or a consumer may buy on the installment plan or borrow money from the bank to buy something which may not necessarily increase his productivity. A more important kind of credit, although less obvious to our eyes, is the bank credit which is extended at a low rate of interest to encourage borrowing, or extended at a high rate to discourage borrowing. But, since the rate of interest may and can be controlled by the bankers, it does not necessarily adjust to varying demands for production. It often happens that the interest rate might be rising and adding another cost to business when prices are falling because of an over-expansion of business.

In the earlier stages of our industrialized life the very plausible idea was advanced that investment was a means of increasing wealth. It was assumed that when money was needed to start production, the interest rate would rise and make it attractive for people to invest. When the necessity for further productive capacity was past, the interest rate would fall, and then people would spend rather than invest. There is one influence which is not considered in this theory—that is that many people save in order to have economic security. For protection against various hazards, business losses, accidents, sickness, old age, unemployment, many people save regardless of the current interest rate. And secondly, the intricacies of our banking and credit system have prevented the interest rate from adjusting automatically to the needs of production. A very vital factor in the situation is that a good third of our national income, or more, is controlled by a small fraction of the population. Since such tremendous wealth cannot be spent on consumption, the wealth is invested with a view to future developments and not necessarily on the basis of the present interest rate.

Now, as much as any time in the history of our country, we Americans are aware of the tremendous rise in prices of consumer goods—food, household products, clothing—and of capital goods—tools and machinery. We are hoping to avoid another depression. We are hoping—but though we know the factors involved in the boom-bust cycle, we have done little to prevent a recurrence. In order to consider the problem it is often wise to reexamine the facts about the economy in which we live—as we have just done. Using these facts as a basis for our thinking we can face the larger problem of how we can control our economy. Or shall our economy control us?

Kiwanis Club Sees Crime Movies

Attending the Newton Kiwanis Club's noon meeting at the Y.M.C.A. Wednesday, State Police Sergeants Theodore Shinkus and Wilfred Sirous told of State Police methods of crime detection and by means of moving pictures, clearly illustrated the manner in which evidence is recorded permanently for the records and presentation in court.

A murderer was convicted by a toe print he'd left at the scene of the crime, according to Sergeant Sirous, and a thief pleaded guilty to breaking and entering after his lawyer had viewed State Police evidence, conclusive via photographs of his palm print and the screwdriver he'd used to pry open a garage window.

Photograph slides of a car involved in a hit and run death, resulted in the conviction of its owner. Sergeant Sirous said an alert police officer memorized the license number as it sped past him, learned later that a victim of a hit and run accident had been found dead within a quarter of a mile away, so that a check revealed its whereabouts, investigation and photography clearly proved its operator guilty.

who resides at 32 Richardson street, Newton. Mr. Smith has been a resident of this city for most of his life, and comes to this office with a broad background of banking, legal and general business experience.

Mr. Smith graduated from Newton High School in 1929. After graduating from Harvard and Harvard Law School, he practiced law in Boston and Newton. Subsequently he was associated with a Newton bank and later did legal work for a Boston insurance company. In 1942 Mr. Smith entered the military service serving most of the time with the Finance Department. When released from active duty in 1946, he was Director of the Disbursing Instructional Unit of the Army Finance School with the rank of Captain. Since becoming associated with the Newton National Bank, Mr. Smith has been at both the Newton and Newton Centre Offices.

With Mr. Smith at Newtonville will be John L. Martin, also of Newton and a graduate of Newton High School in 1938. Mr. Martin was associated with The First National Bank of Boston prior to his military service. He was overseas with the 4th Infantry Division where he was awarded the Purple Heart and the Silver Star and where he attained the grade of First Lieutenant. Mr. Martin has been with the Newton National Bank since his return from service and is well-known to Newton residents.

The third member of the Newtonville staff will be Miss Ann Schipper of Newtonville, also a graduate of Newton High School. Miss Schipper is a graduate of Skidmore College and comes to the bank with a general banking background as well as with business experience in a Boston insurance company. For several years Miss Schipper acted as instructor to supervisors in a large manufacturing concern and thus has a broad background of business and personnel relations.

Mrs. Evelyn A. Riley will be the fourth person at the Newtonville Office and will act as secretary and general assistant. She has been with the bank for only a short time but has had a great deal of previous banking experience at the National Shawmut Bank and also at the Winchester Trust Company.

and the Army, she also hopes to direct larger productions.

Miss Lewis came overseas with the American Red Cross in August, 1945 and spent 10 months in the staging areas of Southern France before flying into Germany where she was assigned as program director of the club at Salzburg, Austria.

In the Salzburg club, which is housed in the Mirabel Casino formerly associated with long-haired musicians, the Red Cross girl directed a Labor Day Fair, attended by 1000 G.I.s. The most popular feature she recalled was a contest which gave a quart of fresh milk to the handsomest pair of G.I. legs.

A graduate of Newton High School, Miss Lewis attended Monticello Junior College and received her A.B. from Smith College, Northampton, Mass., where she studied for two years with Hallie Flannagan Davis, former director of WPA theatres. Before going overseas Miss Lewis helped produce "Ballad for Americans" at the Boston Center for Adult Education.

asserted that although there would be an increase it would not be heavy.

During the meeting refreshments provided by City Clerk Grant were served in the cafeteria by Mrs. Ragna Hovgaard and Mrs. Sheila Parker of the Recreation Department. Vice-President Wendell R. Bauckman expressed appreciation of the efforts of the chairman of the Finance Committee. The meeting was adjourned by President Joseph B. Jamieson until Monday night, March 24.

At Monday night's meeting the Board adopted an order requesting the State Housing Board to declare a state of emergency in the city in order to enable the city to sell land to the United Veterans Organization of Newton for a housing project.

The "emergency" order, adopted under suspension of the rules, conformed with Section 7, Chapter 372 of the Acts of 1946, which provides that the city can take no action under Section 6 of the act unless it reports to the State Housing Board that an acute housing shortage exists in the city which cannot be relieved through normal building channels.

The order asserts that "public exigency, emergency and distress exists" which can be relieved only by action by the city government. The law provides that the State Housing Board hold a public hearing on the matter and that its decision is final. Section 6 of the Act allows the city to sell land for veterans' housing developments or to build houses for sale or rent to veterans.

The United Veterans Organization's Special Committee on Land has offered $1000 to the city for land on Commonwealth avenue and Woodbine street, Auburndale, to be used for the erection of 32 or 48 units in eight or 12 buildings. Arthur J. Swett, committee chairman, and Joseph L. Walsh, U. V. A. chairman, were given a hearing by the Finance Committee preceding the meeting of the full Board.

The Veterans' Advisory Committee withdrew its request for $5625 to buy 25 Quonset huts after an inspection of the buildings being sold by the War Assets Administration.

Veterans' Service Commissioner Edmund T. Dungan announced that the decision to abandon the Quonset hut project was made after an inspection of the huts by Norman Mitchell of the Veterans' Service Department, Malcolm Warren of the Building Department and Lt. Com. John Leary, former supervisor in the Recreation Department, who is now with the First Naval District public relations department.

Commissioner Dungan stated that the huts were found to be in poor repair and would be made worse through transportation here, that considerable time would have been needed to determine which of them would be fit for use, that a sealed bid for the purchase of same would have to be submitted, also that a possibility existed that only a few of them would be allotted to Newton.

Mrs. Harry P. Forte, Mrs. A. in to supplement that program by teaching simple crafts, reading stories or playing games.

The training of the girls planned under the supervision of Mrs. Paul M. Goddard, vice-chairman of Volunteer Special Services, has consisted of a lecture on History and Organization of Red Cross by Mrs. P. Edward Eden, co-chairman of Volunteer Special Services, an orientation course on the work of the District Nursing Association by Miss Hilga S. Nelson, Executive Director, and further material on the Newton Board of Education by Miss Ruth Maynard, Director of Special Counseling.

Following their spring vacation the girls will start on their assignments in various sections of Newton. Miss Della Davis, sociology instructor at Lasell, will act as their special advisor.

This new program fills a desire Miss Hilga Nelson, Newton District Nurse, has had for several years and the patients that the Community Gray Ladies have worked with, are both very receptive and enthusiastic.

The whole program is proving very worthwhile and inspirational, and as it is being done in Newton on a national demonstration basis for Red Cross, it is being closely supervised by Mrs. P. Edward Eden and Mrs. Leo E. Concannon, co-chairmen of Volunteer Special Services of the Newton Chapter.

Dr. Lippitt Guest Speaker at Comm. Council's 10th Anniversary

Dr. Ronald Lippitt, Director of the Research Center for Group Dynamics at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, will be the guest speaker at the Annual Meeting marking the tenth anniversary of the Newton Community Council. It will be held in the Normandie Room at Norumbega Park with dinner at 6:30, Thursday, April 17th.

Dr. Lippitt has titled his talk "Good Individuals Can Make Poor Groups." Clarence R. Mease, General Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., Howard Whitmore, a private citizen, and Miss Jean Falconer, a Newton High School student, will be interviewed during the course of the program. Through these interviews Dr. Lippitt hopes to help the Council delegates become aware of the nature of current barriers to community action. He will attempt to show what makes a committee function well and what causes failures.

A survey has been conducted among the Council delegates to determine which of the following problems seems to be the greatest barrier to securing more successful community activity in Newton. Dr. Lippitt is planning to use these answers in his discussion of group psychology in community organization.

1. Cooperation between the various agency and organizational representatives.

2. Difficulties of recruiting and training volunteers.

3. Problems of getting effective committee leadership and participation.

4. Difficulties of raising funds.

5. Lack of knowledge by Community citizens of what services are available or how they might participate helpfully.

Delegates were asked to rank them in order of importance as they saw them. The Council invites any citizen wishing to express his opinion to rank the above statements or to add any other which he feels are problems here in Newton and mail them to the Newton Community Council, 93 Union street, Newton Centre.

Dr. Lippitt studied child psychology with Jean Piaget at the University of Geneva, Switzerland. He received his Master's and Ph D degrees from the University of Iowa where he majored in experimental social psychology with Kurt Lewin. He served as a Lt. (j.g.) in the U. S. Public Health Service during the war and for two and one half years as Assistant Director, Research and Statistical Service, Boy Scouts of America. Dr. Lippitt is well-known as a lecturer and author.

The Triumph of the Meek

A Sermon by Rev. Roger W. Bennett

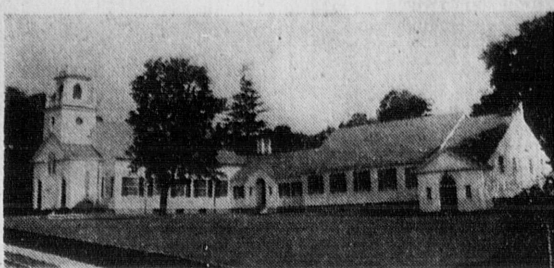

"Lowly, riding upon an ass" came Jesus to Jerusalem. Up over the hill of Olivet to Bethany and Bethphage, along the dusty Jericho road thronged with pilgrims coming to the Passover, came that strange cavalcade. There were multitudes of the poor and down-trodden in that dusty, sweat-stained throng. Hope fired their patient souls as they looked at Jesus. He loved the poor; they knew well the reputation he had earned in Galilee. And now they saw that he was their Messiah, their King sent by God to free them from all bonds. For he was "lowly, riding upon an ass"; they had their prophet's assurance that thus they should recognize their King.

Not all the crowd accepted him. Some looked askance; the well-to-do could hardly believe that such a man was to be a leader, a King over them. Some looked on with indifference, wishing to be free from any turmoil that might arise. Most of the travellers were of the poor and hungry, ready for any change that might bring better things. Hungry of body and hungry of soul, they cheered Jesus: "Hosanna! Hail to our King!" they covered the road with flowers, leaves, clothes, anything to make it a royal road.

What would happen when Jesus, their Christ, got to Jerusalem? The answer to that they had talked over a long time since as they had discussed the Messiah with their fellows. He would take charge of the Temple. He would change things so that the poor could come to God, not only those who could afford costly sacrifices. The poor and humble would know God's favor; they could trust Him and He would see that they always had enough to eat. Rome, too, would have to watch out. The Imperial City might not be disturbed; they did not care as to that. Certainly the Messiah would free Palestine from the hated over-lord, Roman soldiers should no longer give orders or levy heavy taxes in God's chosen country. Do you wonder that these people were perplexed, disheartened by what they saw on Friday? Do you wonder that they talked and acted in the Name of the Almighty. When it came to a showdown, the High Priest had more might than Jesus. The promised triumph of Palm Sunday had become the defeat of Good Friday. Even Rome had taken part in his downfall: Pilate had sentenced Jesus, Roman soldiers had executed him.

Both by Rome and by the Temple, Jesus was defeated—or seemed to be. There was one triumph left, the important one; that one Jesus earned and won. He triumphed over self; over the temptation to disobey God for some immediate gain. How he must have wanted to explain on Palm Sunday, at least to his Apostles, that the Messiah-King wasn't at all the kind of person they were imagining. Their expectation was an earthly King, superior to all other kings only because he was endowed with superior earthly power. Christ knew that God's true Messiah would be the bearer only of godly power; would, nay, could use no earthly power to accomplish God's Kingdom.

On Thursday evening, in the loneliness of Gethsemane, how Christ must have yearned to set out at once for Galilee—for home, for life, for freedom. Fear must have urged him; and also the hope of living to preach again, more powerfully, at another Passover. On the other hand, God's loyal Son ought to be in Jerusalem for the Passover; in the name of all God's children, Jesus would not allow the High Priest to drive him away by fear. Late at night when the arrest was made, how Jesus must have been tempted to let Peter and the others fight to defend him. The joy of proving that the Temple guard could not do that to him! Of showing that the priestly party was not as clever nor as

ST. MARY'S CHURCH, NEWTON LOWER FALLS

History of Church
Because of the abundant water power supplied by the river, Lower Falls was early settled and an important district of Newton. There was no division of Church and State in those days. Taxes supported the Established Church and it was not easy for a dissenting group to arrange for worship as they wished. In 1811 a movement started for a parish of the Protestant Episcopal Church. The first meeting in the old record book was on April 7, 1812—almost exactly 135 years ago—when "a number of the inhabitants of Newton and the adjacent towns desirous of forming themselves into a Society of Protestant Episcopalians" met "at the School House in the Lower Falls district. Officers were chosen and 10 days later it was 'Voted That ninety dollars be granted to defray the expenses of the Society the ensuing year.'"

One year later a call was extended to "the Rev. Asa Eaton to be Rector of the Church and Society." The annual expense went up to $100 (!) and the Common-wealth was petitioned to incorporate them. The Act of Incorporation on June 16, 1813 very carefully provided that "members with their estates shall be liable to all lawful taxes as members of the said Episcopal Society . . . and are hereby exempted from all other taxes for support of public worship." St. Mary's was fortunate in her early years to have one pastor settled for 29 years: Rev. Alfred L. Baur remained as Rector from 1822 to 1851. The average Sunday attendance toward the end was 300 persons, far more than it is today.

Other pastors were brief—and not always happy—there being eleven other rectors in the remaining 40 years until 1890. Since that time there has been more permanence and Mr. Bennett's tenure has been the longest since that of "Parson Baur," at the community still calls him.

The original building is still in use. It was enlarged in 1838 to provide 100 additional sittings, but the changes were so much in keeping that no mark of the change appears. The old parish house, constructed in 1871 and 1893, was destroyed by fire in 1939. The new building, so beautifully in keeping with the old, was erected in 1940 and dedicated on Jan. 1, 1941. After many years of planning to do so, the Parish finally built a rectory on the Church grounds in 1946, so that the Church plant is now complete.

powerful as they had thought! But Christ had come in meekness, girded only with truth and love. The sword could not help him, the sword was out of place. If he should descend to earthly arms, then men would never know that truth and love were great enough to conquer earthly force.

One final instance: during Jesus' trial in Pilate's palace, he was accused of claiming kingship, which was treason toward Tiberius Caesar. It would have been easy to quibble about kingship in order to gain freedom, but he would stand firm with the truth for God.

There was real triumph when Jesus "sat his face to go to Jerusalem." There was real triumph when he came to the city, "lowly, riding upon an ass." There was potential danger at Jerusalem; he faced it. The time did not seem ripe for a declaration of his Messiahship, for his message and teaching were not yet understood even by his Apostles. He faced that difficulty too, confident in God's judgment that if he did what God called him to, God's purpose would be fulfilled. On the road where God set Jesus' feet, he travelled with meekness, with persistent loyalty, with courage and with faith. That was his triumphal entry into life everlasting.

The greatest triumph, as always, was God's As Christ revealed God the Father to us; so in the Son God revealed to us the power that lies in meekness, the courage that comes with truth, the confidence that belongs to love. Kings and generals, dictators and presidents, still exercise their earthly powers to bind the lives of men to earthly ways. In Christ God has shown us how unreal those powers are: day by day, year by year, God is breaking their power and binding to himself the lives of His children, to govern them according to His will. Church and State bind law and tradition upon people, insisting that those things are needful; in Christ God frees us to love Him and to love our fellowmen, for on these two things "hang all the law." So, for God and for His Son, Palm Sunday was a day of triumph.

Biographical
Born in Weston, Massachusetts in 1892, Roger W. Bennett has lived all his life in New England. After preparation at the Weston public schools and St. Mark's School, he graduated from Harvard College in 1913; from the Harvard Law School in 1916. During the following year he worked for the Boston Elevated in the preparation and trial of lower court cases, and as a free legal aid bureau for all its employees.

After a session at Plattsburg during the First War of the World Series, he was transferred to the 26th (Yankee) Division and served as an infantry lieutenant until discharge in April, 1919. Then for two years he practised law with the firm of Gaston, Snow & Saltonstall in Boston. Troubled by war experiences that indicated so deep a failure in religious training and understanding, Mr. Bennett decided to go into school teaching. In preparation he attended for one year the Episcopal Theological School, to learn about the Church and why it was failing in its task. It quickly became evident that the Church was saying and doing what her purpose required; the difficulty was that no one was listening. Convinced that the only fair and effective way was to teach religion under the Church's banner, he finished the 3-year course and served for two years under Rev. Elmore McKee in St. Paul's Church in downtown New Haven. It was at this time that Mr. Bennett was married to Margaret Goldthwait of Boston, who has carried so much of his work and joy ever since.

REV. ROGER W. BENNETT

From New Haven they went into school teaching, at St. George's and at St. Mark's, where Mr. Bennett was both chaplain and teacher of mathematics, with one intervening year in charge of St. John's Church, Framingham Centre. Moving to St. Mary's Church, Newton Lower Falls in 1934, they have been there through the 13 succeeding years. At first residents of Wellesley Hills, both Mr. and Mrs. Bennett have been elected members of the representative town meeting: Mrs. Bennett for 2 years, Mr. Bennett for 9. Both are deeply interested in social problems and in the application of Christ's teachings to problems of living and of all human relations. Mr. Bennett has served as chairman of the local branch of the Church League for Industrial Democracy. Both are members of the Fellowship of Reconciliation and of the Wider Quaker Fellowship. Of their four children, two are in college; one in the Quaker college

Name Committees For Y Auxiliary Easter-Mon. Bridge

Plans are under way for the annual Easter-Monday Dessert Bridge to be held on April 7, in the Auditorium of the Newton Y.M.C.A. The president of the Y.M.C.A. Auxiliary to the Y.M.C.A., Mrs. Alban Rosene, announces the following committees for the event. Tickets, Mrs. Henry C. Jones, Jr.; Waitresses, Mrs. Wm. S. Bungard; Candy, Mrs. E. Horne; Prizes, Mrs. F. Hawkins; Mrs. Everett Olds, Mrs. Chester Alter, Mrs. C. W. Christensen, Mrs. Frank Simmons, Mrs. Hans Fischer, Mrs. Walter Hatfield and Mrs. Forrest Lange; Dessert, Mrs. Norman Millard, Mrs. Reginald Smith, Mrs. Edmund Miller, Mrs. Forrest Lange and Mrs. Milton A. Motland; Table Decorations, Mrs. Donald Gibbs, Mrs. Ruth Delisser, Mrs. George Amazeen, Mrs. W. F. Moulton and Mrs. Frank Willeson.

Among those planning to attend are Mrs. William C. Custer, Mrs. Chester Smith, Mrs. Nelson Scott, Mrs. Charles Pearson, Mrs. Richard L. Frost, Mrs. Arthur Lord, Mrs. H. B. Dwight, Mrs. Edward D. Parent and Mrs. F. M. Willeson. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Henry Jones (LAS. 5874) or the "Y" (BIG. 6050).

Interest in the World Youth Fund continues among friends and members of the Women's Auxiliary to the Newton Y.M.C.A. Mrs. Clarence R. Mease, 398 Wolcott St., Auburndale, opened her home to eleven tables of bridge one afternoon last week. Assisting her as hostesses were Mrs. Dorothy Woodacre, Mrs. Reginald Smith, Mrs. Lena LaRosee and Mrs. William M. Rauh. During the afternoon the film "Invisible Bridge" was shown. This explained the need for the money being raised for the World Youth Fund which is to supplement the Y.M.C.A. program in the war-torn areas of Europe and the Philippines. This aroused such enthusiasm that Mrs. Mease is to have another bridge on April 30.

Mrs. Frank Simmons invited some friends to a morning coffee to discuss plans for a May-Day event. Those attending were Mrs. Larry Emmons, Mrs. Cecil Clark, Mrs. W. F. Moulton, Mrs. Robert Proctor, Mrs. George W. Eyleshymer and Mrs. Edmund Miller.

Star Market Company Plans Large Modern Food Plant

To Expand Packaging and Processing Activities; $10,000 Spent to Improve Site

In a plea to the Claims and Rules Committee of the Board of Aldermen for a two year permit for non-conforming use of the old Willow Farm property on Farwell street, Newtonville, the Star Market Company issued the following statement:

"In their petition to the Newton Board of Aldermen for permission to improve the premises and to continue for two years a similar non-conforming usage of the buildings on the old Willow Farm on the outskirts of Newton near the Waltham-Water-town boundary lines, the Star Market Company stated that it is completing plans to erect adequate modern plant facilities with large refrigerators, freezers, conveyors, kitchens, ovens, etc., convenient to railroad services and truck traffic arteries.

"During the war the Star Market Company temporarily took over the three acres of farm land and buildings originally built as a dairy and milk-bottling plant and spent over ten thousand dollars in improving sewage disposal systems, removing old rubbish dumps, filling in and landscaping the low land adjacent to the old pond on the adjoining farm, and cleaning up the buildings to make them sanitary. A cement platform was poured over the rat-infested ruins of two old silo foundations. The Waltham Chemical Company was retained to eradicate the pests. The Newton Health Department was frequently invited to inspect the premises and to make any recommendations for improvements but not a single unsanitary condition was noted.

"The Star Market Company developed the former milk-bottling quarters into a modern delicatessen kitchen under the supervision of an able chef whose professional standing is attested to by numerous gold cups and awards which he received in competition with his fellow chefs at the Statler and Copley Plaza hotels. During the war the Naval unit at Okinawa, served by the kitchens under his supervision, was one of the very few which did not have a single case of sickness traceable to inadequate kitchen sanitation, and his Commanding Officer attested that he had without question the cleanest galley in the whole Pacific area. A report of "excellent" for the condition of his galley was sent to the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, Washington, D. C.

"The large truck farm surrounding the plant on three sides is owned and operated by Mr. C. Gringeri of 50 Farwell street, who supplies the Star Market Company with fresh-picked produce which is washed and sanitariously packaged in cellophane in the large concrete basement of the main building. The vegetable trimmings and greens are carted away daily by the sanitary trucks.

The large refrigerated chest, formerly used for the storage of milk, has been adapted for use of a flake-ice machine that quietly freezes tons of ice crystals which are needed in the care of the packaged and of the fresh fish which is cut and iced for immediate transfer to the company's retail supermarkets. All fish trimmings are carefully placed in metal cans and kept in the refrigerated chest until collected by the sanitary trucks. The grounds are kept thoroughly clean of all food matter at all times. All sewage waters are drained into large underground filtering tanks. No odors are detectable even by the family occupying the house on the premises who are employees of the Hood Milk Company; and at the original hearing on the Star Market Company's petition there was no objection from any abutters. In fact, the nearest abutter, Mr. and Mrs. Kingsley, who appeared in response to the notice, stated at the hearing that they had no complaint regarding odors, sanitation, or usage of the plant. Mrs. Kingsley stated that the Star Market Company had improved the premises by filling in the low land at the side of their pond where previously a rubbish dump had existed. Her only criticism was in regard to the Star Market delivery trucks, and she was relieved to know that their use was to be discontinued entirely around April 1, 1947.

Claims and Rules Committee Chairman Kenneth D. McCutchen, of the Newton Board of Aldermen, at a recent hearing on the petition read an agreement signed by H. D. Hood, Jr., Treasurer of the Hood Milk Company which owns the buildings, asserting that owner would waive rights to non-conforming use at the end of a two-year period if the extension were granted. Mr. McCutchen stated that if the agreement is entered into, the premises will be used only for single residence purposes at the end of the two-year period. If the agreement is not accepted, the owners and their tenants may continue indefinitely to use the buildings and premises for any or all of the previous non-conforming uses as the area was not zoned for single family residence purposes until 1922 at which time the dairy plant and its many related activities were being carried on at the farm. A recent movement by a group of interested citizens to change the zoning from "general manufacturing" to "single residence" for the filled land between Farwell street and North street which is adjacent to the property in question, now occupied by the Star Market Company, was unsuccessful in its efforts to deny a permit for the property purchaser to construct a commercial garage building. Previous efforts to stop the City of Watertown from operating a huge rubbish dump in the low land along the river just a stone's throw from the scattered residential homes at the end of Albemarle Road on the Newton side of the Charles river likewise was unsuccessful. The unsightly pond and swamp which drains the North street area and empties into the creek at the junction of Albemarle Road and Brookdale street before it flows into the Charles river by the Watertown dump is another focal point where the neighbors have wanted the City to act in their interest and fill in the area with sand.

"The Star Market Company has assisted in every way that it could in improving the appearance of the area and will be better able to continue this effort by planting a row of bushy pines to screen the buildings if it is granted this two-year period of use of the premises while it rushes construction on its new plant elsewhere."

Harry J. McLatchy, 30 Rowe street, Auburndale, has recently returned from a trans-country tour with his Boston University classmate and pal, Harold Russell, Cambridge, who appears in the motion picture, "The Best Years of Our Lives." C., for a dinner with Congressmen, and later an afternoon tea with the First Lady, Mrs. Harry S. Truman, General Dwight D. Eisenhower, General Omar Bradley, and Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson. They made another appearance that night at a special showing of the "Best Years" film in Washington, for the benefit of the Dr. Howard Rusk Rehabilitation Fund for civilian hospitals.

To Present Play For Benefit of Jewish Sanatorium

Many Newton ladies, members of the Brookline Auxiliary No. 5 of the Jewish Tuberculosis Sanatorium of New England, are actively interested in the one act play entitled "The Doctor's First Operation" being given during the annual Spring Meeting scheduled for Monday, April 7th at 2:00 P. M. at the Temple Sanai Meeting House on Sewall avenue, Brookline.

Mrs. Mitchell Braff of Newton is chairman of the Drama Group. Mrs. Elizabeth Rifkin is directing the production which was translated from the Yiddish by Mrs. Bessie White of Brookline.

The proceeds from the play are used for the necessary and urgent work being accomplished at the Jewish Tuberculosis Sanatorium of New England located at Rutland, Mass., where, during the past twenty years, hundreds of men and women suffering from lung tuberculosis have sought medical aid and care to help them back to health and usefulness.

Many of them are now recorded as arrested cases and have returned to their families and loved ones. The Ladies of the Brookline-Newton Auxiliary are asking the cooperation of their personal friends in addition to the many supporters of the Sanatorium. Mrs. Harry Shufro of Newton is President of the Auxiliary while Mrs. Victor M. Lewis of Brookline is the President of the Board of Governors.

Art Classes Publicize Nutrition Center's Program

The art classes of the Newton Public Schools played a large part in the "What's Cooking in Your Neighbor's Pot" program presented by the Newton Nutrition Center on Wednesday evening this week. The combination program and recipe booklet, printed in the Trade School, featured a colorful block-print cover design by Barbara Raitto, a student in Senior Illustration. An attractive window display in the Regent Shop, Newtonville, was planned and arranged by two Art Appreciation students, Barbara Bergquist and Barbara Short. This display included a poster stencilled by Junior High School students. Gay and unusual three-dimensional posters were made by Julia Spencer, Eva Geiringer, Betty Marie Peck, Margery Moore, Jean McManus, and Ruth Kendall of the Design class; while girls from Commercial and Fashion, Betty Osterlund, Elizabeth Gleim, and Carole Rodman, arranged the Scandinavian arts and crafts display shown as part of the Wednesday evening program. Teachers in charge of these activities were Miss Margarita Ellis and Miss Helen Miles under the general direction of Miss Eleanor Elliott, Art Director, who worked in close collaboration with the Nutrition Center.

There are over 5,000 women throughout Metropolitan Boston actively interested in this organization.

Here's Proof of Extra Mileage in the Tire That OUTWEARS PREWAR TIRES

Testimonials like the above letters about the new B.F. Goodrich Silvertown are not uncommon. Nor are we surprised at this evidence of long mileage. This extra mileage was scientifically engineered into the tires. First, a wider, flatter tread was developed for longer wear and greater protection against skidding. Second, to hold that huskier tread a new 35% stronger cord body was developed. That's why we say, see us today... equip your car with the new B.F. Goodrich Silvertown... the tire that outwears prewar tires.
